Introduction

“Praise be to Allah, Who taught illiterate man (by the pen), taught man that which he knew not (writing) and praise be to Allah the Lord of the worlds and may the blessings and peace of Allah be upon the most honored of messengers our master Muhammad (ﷺ) and upon all his family and Companions”.

This is the text book on Islamic Education, which we present to our dear sons and daughters the students eleventh grade, hoping that it proves to be beneficial to them.

In terms of structure, this book has adopted a unit-based approach. Each unit addresses diverse topics that collectively represent the domains and focal points of the curriculum discussing Divine Revelation, creed, the values and morals of Islam, the rulings of Islam and their purposes, the biography of Prophet Muhammad, prominent Muslim characters, national identity and contemporary issues.

The authors of the book were keen on translating curriculum criteria into comprehensive content; this necessitated identifying the outcome of learning criteria at the beginning of each lesson under the heading ‘This lesson teaches me’. Each Lesson comprises an introduction titled “I take the initiative to learn”, and a presentation under the heading “I use my skills to learn” and a conclusion under the heading “I organize my concepts”. This is followed by student activity, which has focused on three types: a general activity to all students. This is titled “I answer by myself”. There are enriching activities for distinguished students titled “Enriching my experience” and applied activities titled “I assess myself”.

The book embeds an attempt to strike a balance between religious knowledge and learning activities by introducing the necessary religious knowledge and concepts to students. It has also provided them with a simultaneous gateway to increase and enrich their knowledge via classroom learning activities. The book has also targeted the realization of the characteristics of Emirati students in this age-group and developing those characteristics that peculiarly belong to the 21st century, thinking skills and the requirements of sustainable development.

The book has focused on religious knowledge and concepts that are required by students in this age-group and on linking this knowledge and these concepts to contemporary life and its novelties in the light of the principles of Sharia, whose hallmark is moderation, tolerance, positivity and individual and communal responsibilities. The book has also accorded attention to developing performance skills that relate to Islamic education and has given special emphasis to Islamic values in pursuit of structuring conscious personalities that adhere to religion and contribute to nation building.

Moreover, the book comprises multiple and diverse learning activities that contribute to developing critical thinking in students. This is a contemporaneous requirement that fortifies students against deviant ideas and uninformed imitation. Critical thinking also contributes to developing creative and inventive thinking; this channels into the UAE Vision 2021- "United in Ambition and Resolve"- in which the UAE endeavors to become the one of the best countries in the world. In its scheme, the book also seeks to develop skills of problem solving and making sound decisions in a timely manner and contributes to sharpening the skills of students and raising their awareness by investing in material and human potentialities and preserving and developing the nation's wealth.

We hope that the method of presenting topics to students aids them in utilizing their innate faculties of learning- observing, thinking, experimenting, applying, self-learning, researching, investigating and deriving conclusions built on evidence and proof.

We present this book to our sons and daughters the students hoping that it realizes the benefits perceived at the time of compiling it. These benefits comprise realizing the criteria of learning Islamic Education and developing thinking and performance skills in a persistent endeavor to equip this generation of students with the tools necessary for ingenuity, inventiveness, meeting challenges and achieving supremacy for the homeland.

Allah knows best the intention behind our deeds.

Ethical advice and instructions

We read and explore

- Ethical advice and instructions
- This lesson teaches me to:
 - read the holy verses from memory observing the rules of recitation.
 - explain the vocabulary of the holy verses.
 - infer the moral instructions and principles incorporated in the verses.
 - explain the significances incorporated in the holy verses.
 - adhere to the values contained in the holy verses.

I take the initiative to learn

I read

Occasions of revealing the holy verses (asbāb al-nuzūl):

When Allah (تَعَالَى) improved the conditions of the emigrants (Muhajirin), and the state of economic hardship imposed on them after their migration to Madinah came to an end, they provided well for their wives and children. When the wives of the Prophet (ﷺ) noticed this, some of them asked the Messenger (ﷺ) to provide for them in the same way the emigrants did to their wives and requested some of life's luxuries. Some of them repeatedly insisted on increasing their expenditure allocations and Allah (تَعَالَى) revealed these verses.

I discuss with my fellow students the most important causes of disputes between spouses and means of solving them.

I use my skills to learn

I recite and memorize:

Allah (تعالى) says:

Sūrat Al-‘Aĥzāb 28-35

28. O Prophet! Say to your Consorts: “If it be that you desire the life of this World, and its glitter, then come! I will provide for your enjoyment and set you free in a handsome manner.

29. But if you seek Allah and His Messenger, and the Home of the Hereafter, verily Allah has prepared for the well-doers amongst you a great reward.

30. O Consorts of the Prophet! If any of you were guilty of evident unseemly conduct, the Punishment would be doubled to her, and that is easy for Allah.

31. But any of you that is devout in the service of Allah and His Messenger, and works righteousness, to her shall We grant her reward twice: and We have prepared for her a generous Sustenance.

32. O Consorts of the Prophet! You are not like any of the (other) women: if you do fear (Allah), be not too complacent of speech, lest one in whose heart is a disease should be moved with desire: but speak you a speech (that is) just.

33. And stay quietly in your houses, and make not a dazzling display, like that of the former Times of Ignorance; and establish regular Prayer, and give regular Charity; and obey Allah and His Messenger. And Allah only wishes to remove all abomination from you, you members of the Family, and to make you pure and spotless.

34. And recite what is rehearsed to you in your homes, of the Signs of Allah and His Wisdom: for Allah understands the finest mysteries and is well-acquainted (with them).

35. For Muslim men and women, for believing men and women, for devout men and women, for true men and women, for men and women who are patient and constant, for men and women who humble themselves, for men and women who give in Charity, for men and women who fast (and deny themselves), for men and women who guard their chastity, and for men and women who engage much in Allah's praise, for them has Allah prepared forgiveness and great reward.

I understand the significance of the verses

First: I choose correctly

When some of the Mothers of the Believers (Ummahat al-Mumineen) (رضي الله عنهم) asked the Prophet (ﷺ) to increase their expenditure allocations, Allah (تعالى) commanded His Prophet (ﷺ) to give them a choice between living with him the kind of worldly life he had chosen and felt contented with and releasing them to obtain what they wanted of the allurements of worldly life. If they chose the love of Allah and His Messenger and the blessedness of the Afterlife and felt pleased with their state with Allah's Messenger (ﷺ), Allah would prepare for those who preserved goodness in their deeds a great reward.

The Messenger (ﷺ) began with Sayeda Aisah (رضي الله عنها) and said,

“O Aisha, I am telling you something, but you need not hurry to give the reply till you consult your parents.”

Then he recited the verse:

﴿يَا أَيُّهَا النَّبِيُّ قُلْ لِّأَزْوَاجِكَ﴾

“O Prophet! Say to your Consorts” until he stopped at ﴿أَجْرًا عَظِيمًا﴾

“a great reward”.

Aisha said, “By Allah, he knew that my parents would not advise me to part with the Prophet (ﷺ)”. She said, “am I to consult my parents about this? I indeed prefer Allah, His Messenger, and the Home of the Hereafter.” (Narrated by Muslim). This was the choice of all the Mothers of the Believers (Ummahat al-Mumineen), too; Allah made them succeed in choosing well and giving the Hereafter priority over the luxury of worldly life.

No one should think that the Prophet (ﷺ) was stingy with respect to his family; he was the most generous of all people. He used to do his utmost for their material convenience and was the best of all people to his family and relatives. Also, Allah (تعالى) commanded him to give his wives (رضي الله عنهن) the choice because he was not in a position to respond to their request. It was not becoming of him to compel them to live with him as material life based on contentedness is better and happier.

Also, the above should not be understood to indicate that the Prophet (ﷺ) did not love life. On the contrary, his first action when he arrived at Madinah was building and construction; he built a mosque and then a market in Madinah and urged people to work and endeavor to earn their means of sustenance. The Prophet (ﷺ) said, “Allah is Beautiful and loves beauty” (Narrated by Muslim). However, his responsibilities were huge; he was not only responsible for his family; but he was responsible for the whole society.

Illuminations

The messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said “You will never leave something for the sake of Allah, but Allah will give you something better in return” (Narrated by Ahmed).

I reflect and discover

The expenditure allocation requested by the Mothers of the Believers (Ummahat al-Mumineen) as evidenced by the following hadith:

The Mother of the Believers ‘Aisha (رضي الله عنها) said,

“We used to see the crescent, and then the crescent; in this way we saw three crescents in two months and no fire (for cooking) was kindled in the houses of Allah’s Messenger (ﷺ)” (Narrated by al-Bukhārī’).

I explain

Allah (تعالى) called upon His Messenger (ﷺ) and commanded him to give his pure wives a choice between two options, which are:

- first option:
- Second option:

I expect:

The result of each one of the two options:

- first option:
- Second option:

I discuss and identify in cooperation with my group the real reason behind the Prophet (ﷺ) choosing for himself and his family a simple mode of living:

- Islam prohibits enjoying adornments and goodies of life.
- A pure wish for what Allah has in store and not being distracted from his goal.

I explain

I complete the table to explain the effects of good choice as regards each of the following:

Choice	Effects
Choosing a suitable wife
Choosing a suitable friend
Choosing a suitable employee

Second, divine directives to the wives of the the Prophet (ﷺ)

Allah (تعالى) addressed the women in the family of the Prophet (ﷺ); the address is a special one explaining the responsibility they are to bear. This was so because the Prophet's family represented an example to be followed by the believers, men and women. Allah (عز وجل) began by giving an emphatic warning against acts of disobedience and uncomely conduct. Then He explained to them that members of the family who observe obedience to Allah (عز وجل) and His Messenger (ﷺ) and engage in good deeds

﴿نُوتِهَا أَجْرَهَا مَرَّتَيْنِ وَأَعْتَدْنَا لَهَا رِزْقًا كَرِيمًا﴾

“Nu’utihā ‘Ajrahā Marratayni Wa ‘A`tadnā Lahā Rizqāan Karīmāan”.

“We grant her reward twice”..

As Allah (عز وجل) wanted the wives of His Prophet (ﷺ) to be pure of any guilt, preserved against any kind of sin, He gave them several commands including:

- constantly observing piety as regards Allah (تعالى),
- speaking in the kind of decorum which protects one against suspicion stemming from ill-intentioned persons of crooked thoughts,
- staying at home and leaving only on household errands or interests in order to preserve their rank with Allah's Messenger (ﷺ),
- avoiding dazzling display, i.e. exposing the beauties of a woman to men,

- offering prayers and giving zakat.

Allah (تَعَالَى) concluded His directives to the the Mothers of the Believers (Ummahat al-Mumineen) saying:

Wa Adhkurna Mā Yutlá Fī Buyūtikunna Min ‘Āyāti Allāhi Wa Al-Ĥikmati

“...And recite what is rehearsed to you in your homes, of the Signs of Allah and His Wisdom...”

This verse can be interpreted in several ways; it commands them to:

- remember what is said in the Qur'an and never neglect to act according to it,
- remember the blessing of having the revelation descend in their houses to the exclusion of all other people,
- memorize what is recited of the Holy Qur'an and the Prophet's Sunnah in their houses in order to teach the believers, especially women.

I infer:

the significance of explaining these rulings on the family of the Prophet (ﷺ).

I explain:

Allah (تَعَالَى) doubled the reward or punishment of deeds of the wives of the Prophet (ﷺ) depending on whether the deeds are good to be rewarded or bad to be punished.

I demonstrate:

the effects attendant on each of the following:

A woman showing complacency in her speech:

A woman engaging in dazzling display and showing her adornment to persons other than the persons unmarriageable to her (maharim):

.....

Third, the qualities of believers and their reward

Allah (تَعَالَى) tells us in these holy verses that men and women are equal in reward or punishment as well as in obligations. He (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى) explained the qualities on which His servants- women and men- deserve forgiveness and great reward. These are:

1. Zahir (الظاهر exterior, apparent) Islam: this consists in complying in words and deeds with the rulings of religion;
2. Bāṭin (باطن inner, inward, hidden): this faith is expressed in full belief, compliance with the rules imposed by Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ), and devoutness (القنوت), which means in this context: constant obedience to Allah, truthfulness in words and deeds, patience in misfortunes, bearing hardships, submissiveness and humbleness of heart and limbs to Allah (تَعَالَى) in order to glorify Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ), donating money, being charitable to the needy, fasting, preserving one's private parts against fornication, frequent remembrance of Allah by the heart, tongue and limbs as well as supplication (du'a).

I reflect and classify:

I reflect on verse (35) and classify the qualities mentioned in the verse into the following:

- qualities which organize the relationship between man and his Lord.

- qualities which organize the relationship of man with himself.

- qualities which organize the relationship of man with others.

The significance of the fact that the Prophet (ﷺ) gave his wives (رضي الله عنهن) the choice between options.	First option:
	Second option:
Instructions and advice to the Mothers of the Believers.	1. Maintaining constant piety towards Allah.	2. Avoiding compliance in speaking.
	3. Not to leave home except on household errands	4. Distancing themselves from dazzling display.
	5.	6.
	7.	8.
Qualities of the believers, men and women.	1. Islam	2. Faith
	3. Devotion	4. Truthfulness
	5. Patience	6.
	7.	8.
	9.	10.

Student Activities

I answer by myself

First: explain the significance of the words of Allah (تَعَالَى):

﴿... لَسْتُنَّ كَأَحَدٍ مِّنَ النِّسَاءِ ...﴾

Lastunna Ka'ahadin Mina An-Nisā

“...You are not like any of the (other) women...”

Second: why a high level of ethical commitment was imposed on the wives of the Prophet (ﷺ) to the exclusion of all other women?

Third: mention three of etiquette types in conversation between men and women:

Fourth: what are the lessons to be learned by Muslim families from these verses?

Fifth: explain why the commands mentioned in the verse addressed to the wives of the Prophet (ﷺ) include all Muslim women.

Sixth: What is the ruling in the following cases, with the reason:

The wife of a financially capable man requested increasing her monthly expenditure allocation and he gave her the right of choosing between two options in compliance with the Qur'an and Sunnah (what is meant here is the choice mentioned in the verses).

A lady works as a teacher in the Ministry of Education. Her husband said to her: 'Stay at home' in compliance with the words of Allah (تعالى):

﴿وَقَرْنَ فِي بُيُوتِكُنَّ...﴾

Wa Qarna Fī Buyūtikunna

“And stay quietly in your houses...”

Enriching my experience

I submit a brief report on the wisdom behind giving woman half the share of man in inheritance.

Muhammad bin Ibrahim At-Taimi told me that he had heard ‘Alqamah ibn Waqqas al-Laithi say, I heard Omar bin Al Khattab (رضي الله عنه) say on the pulpit ‘I heard Allah’s Messenger (ﷺ) say:

“Verily, deeds are judged according to intentions. Verily, every person will have only what they intended. Whoever emigrated to Allah and his messenger, then his emigration is for Allah and his messenger. Whoever emigrated to get something in the world or to marry a woman, then his emigration is for whatever he emigrated for.” (Narrated by al-Bukhārī)

While Ahmed was sitting with his friends, his cousin Rashid sent him a telephone text message and asked him to circulate it. The message says: Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, “Whoever prays al-Duha will be given the reward of seventy prophets”.

Circulate this and do not deny others the reward. Ahmed sent it to his friends and urged them to resend it. Ahmed's friend Ali, who studies Sharia at the UAE University, said,

“This hadith has not been authenticated as a hadith by our Messenger (ﷺ) and it is not permissible to circulate everything that we receive, for Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, “Whoever narrates a hadith from me that he thinks is false is one of the liars.” Narrated by Muslim” (Sahih Muslim).

Ahmed asked him, “How did you know that the Messenger did not say it?”

So, all the friends agreed to appoint a get together to discuss this matter.

At the weekend, the friends sat together to discuss this matter.

Ali: As you know the gracious Companions accorded attention to hadith in terms of writing and memorizing since the age of the Prophet (ﷺ). Then scholars set themselves the task of recording and classifying hadith. Hadith is the second source of Sharia after the Holy Qur'an. It interprets and confirms what is mentioned in the Holy Qur'an. Not only this; but it states rules not mentioned in the Holy Qur'an.

- Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Wa Mā Yanṭiqu `Ani Al-Hawá

‘In Huwa ‘Illā Waḥyun Yūhá

“3. Nor does he say (aught) of (his own) Desire.

4. It is no less than inspiration sent down to him.” (Surat An-Najm)

- Also, Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Wa Mā Nahākum `Anhu Fāntahū WaAttaqū Allaha ‘Inna Allāha Shadīdu Al-`Iqābi

“So take what the Messenger assigns to you, and deny yourselves that which he withholds from you. And fear Allah, for Allah is strict in Punishment.” (Surat Al-Ĥashr: 7)

Therefore, scholars have been keen on studying and examining hadith to differentiate between Ṣaḥīḥ and non-Ṣaḥīḥ because Sharia rulings are built on these hadiths. Ibn Sirin (رَجَمَهُ اللَّهُ) said, “Verily, the knowledge of narrating traditions is religion, so be careful from whom you take your religion.”

Scholars divided hadith into two major categories:

- First: hadith in terms of the number of narrators,
- Second: hadith in terms of acceptance and rejection (qubool and rad). This category includes Ṣaḥīḥ, Ḥassan, Ḍa‘īf and maudu’ (authentic, good, weak and fabricated).

- An authentic (Ṣaḥīḥ) hadith is a hadith whose chain of transmission is connected by the report of a trustworthy, completely competent person from one similar to him from the beginning to the end of the chain of transmission without flaw ('illah علة) or irregularity (shādhdh- شذوذ).

Ahmed: Please, explain to us what is meant by connected chain of transmission, a trustworthy, completely competent narrator, flaw ('illah علة) and irregularity (shādhdh- شذوذ).

Ali: 'Connected chain of transmission' means each narrator has taken the hadith from his Sheikh. The 'competence of the narrator' relates to the narrator's truthfulness and his good morals. As for control (ضبط), it relates to memorizing hadith and the quality of this memorization. Also, hadith scholars defined flaw ('illah علة) as a hidden discordance which is only recognized by specialists; they explained irregularity (shādhdh- شذوذ) as trustworthy narrators disagreeing with narrators who are more trustworthy than them. If all these conditions are met by a hadith, we can judge that it is authentic (Ṣaḥīḥ).

Khamis: I heard the Friday prayer khatib (a person who delivers a sermon- خطيب) categorize a hadith that he has read as 'Ḥassan'; what does this mean?

Ali: a 'Ḥassan' hadith is subject to the same conditions as a 'Ṣaḥīḥ' hadith; but here the control of narration is lesser than the control of narration in a 'Ṣaḥīḥ' hadith. If a hadith does not satisfy the requirements of 'Ṣaḥīḥ' and 'Ḥassan' hadiths, then it is 'Ḍa'īf' (weak).

I match

the two columns by inserting the appropriate number in the middle column as in the table below.

SN	Concept	SN	Definition
1	continuity of chain of narration.		The narrator's strong ability to memorize and his intelligence.
2	Accuracy of narrator.		The narrator's reputation and his good morals.
3	Integrity of the narrator.		The narrator taking directly from his Sheikh.

I complete:

the following the table in cooperation with my fellow students:

We think critically and then judge the continuity of chain of transmission or lack of it in the following case:

Narration:

'Ufair bin Ma'dan al-Kala'I reported, "Omar bin Musa came to us in Homs. We gathered in the mosque to listen to him. He went on repeating 'Your Good Sheikh reported to us'. When he continued to repeat this, I said, 'Who is our Good Sheikh. Say his name that we may know him. He said, 'Khalid ibn Ma'dan'. I said to him, 'In which year did you see him?' He said, 'In the year one hundred and eight'. Al-Kifayah Fi Ilmi Ar-Riwayah (الكفاية في علم الرواية), p. 117.

Facts:

Khâlid ibn Ma`dân (رحمه الله): one the Tabi'un (Post-Companions of the Prophet) and a scholar from Homs.

He died in the year one hundred and four.

- Our judgment on the connection of the chain of transmission (Omar bin Musa hearing Khâlid ibn Ma`dân):

- Justification of the judgment.

The conversion continues:

Hamad: Shall we finish our scientific discussion?

Ali: Yes, let's resume our talk about the fabricated Hadith. Originally, it is not a Hadith; but it was agreed as a term to shed light on it and warn people of it. This is the kind of hadith attributed to Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) by liars and fabricators although he did not say so in the first place.

Jasim: Is it possible that someone tells lies about our Messenger although he has warned us of telling lies about him?!!!

Ali: The aims of the narrators of fabricated stories about the Messenger (ﷺ) differ. Among fabricators of hadiths are:

- the hypocrites who work on ruining religion,
- prejudiced persons who told lies about Allah's Messenger to advocate their prejudices,
- storytellers who earn their means of living by telling different stories and exotic narratives to please commoners,
- some pseudo-religionists who fabricated hadiths on virtuous deeds to encourage people to engage in doing good.

Hamad: How do we know that a hadith is fabricated?

Ali: Specialists know this; but the signs of fabrication and telling lies about Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) include:

- being in conflict with the Holy Qur'an and Islamic faith,
- inaccuracies in meaning and structure,
- being in conflict with incontrovertible intellectual truisms
- mocking scholars or prophets,
- containing excessive threat on minor wrong demeanors and exaggerated rewards for actions of obedience.

Ahmed: We thank you for clarifying this matter. As of today we will only circulate authenticated matters.

Ali: This is the advice of the Messenger (ﷺ) to us; he warned us saying, “Whoever tells lies about me deliberately, let him take his place in Hell” (Narrated by al-Bukhārī and Muslim). O Ahmed where do you now find the hadith you have sent to us?!!!!!!

I infer

the signs of fabrication from the following text:

al-Suyuti reported from Ibn al-Jawzī (رحمهما الله) that he said:

“If you see a hadith that goes against what is reasonable, is contrary to religious texts, or contradicts Islamic principles, then know that it is inauthentic”.

Shura (Consultation) in Islam

We read and explore

- explain the meaning of Shura,
- infer the benefits of Shura,
- explain the domains of Shura,
- identify the qualities of a consultant,
- give examples of Shura in the life of the Prophet (ﷺ).

I take the initiative to learn

Preserving the interests of society is the responsibility of all its members alike; also, cooperation to realize this goal is a Sharia requirement. This requirement demands sincerity and unifying efforts to achieve the progress and prosperity of society and meet the threats to its security and the safety of every member of it in conformance to laws, controls and regulations which guarantee the best outcomes of all efforts exerted to achieve this. Islam has legislated Shura to enhance the solidarity of society and reveal its potential energies and talents.

Illuminations

Jabir (رضي الله عنه) said, "The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) used to teach us to make istikhara (استخارة asking Allah to guide one to the best path) in all things, just as he used to teach us surahs from the Quran" (an-Nasa'i).

I expect

some methods which discover talents in society:

1.

I use my skills to learn

The concept of Shura

Shura means asking opinion leaders to express their different opinions in order to reach the best opinion. The person asking for consultation reviews all opinions and chooses the nearest to what is right in order to realize the best results.

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿...وَأْمُرُهُمْ شُورَىٰ بَيْنَهُمْ وَمِمَّا رَزَقْنَاهُمْ يُنفِقُونَ﴾ (سورة الشورى: 38)

(سورة الشورى: 38)

Wa ‘Amruhum Shūrā Baynahum Wa Mimmā Razaqnāhum Yunfiqūna

“...who (conduct) their affairs by mutual Consultation; who spend out of what We bestow on them for Sustenance...” (Surat Ash-Shūrā: 38).

Also, Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿... وَشَاوِرْهُمْ فِي الْأَمْرِ فَإِذَا عَزَمْتَ فَتَوَكَّلْ عَلَى اللَّهِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يُحِبُّ الْمُتَوَكِّلِينَ﴾ (سورة آل عمران: 159)

(سورة آل عمران: 159)

Wa Shāwirhum Fī Al-‘Amri Fa’idhā ‘Azamta Fatawakkal ‘Alá Allāhi ‘InnaAllāha Yuhībbu Al-Mutawakkilīna

“... and consult them in affairs (of moment). Then, when you hast Taken a decision put your trust in Allah. For Allah loves those who put their trust (in Him)”. (Sūrat ‘Āli `Imrān: 159).

I explain

Allah (تَعَالَى) commands his Prophet (ﷺ) to conduct Shura although he does not speak out of desire:

.....

Domains of Shura

Shura comprises all domains of life- economic, political and social domains. It also comprises public and private interests; a person can conduct Shura on a private issue such as consulting others about studies, marriage or a private commercial enterprise.

Also, Shura can be restricted to a particular group such as advisers and specialists and can be directed to all members of society such as opinion polls. Shura is conducted on matters not addressed by a text from the Holy Qur'an or the Prophet's Sunnah because Ijtihad (independent reasoning) is not resorted to when there is a text. Therefore, Shura is conducted in the case of new issues which are not subject to a prior rule.

I find a solution:

To explain the sound action in the following cases:

A woman consults her neighbor on fasting during pregnancy.

Ahmed consults his friend on performing Asr (afternoon) prayer.

Someone consults communication websites on an emotional problem.

Forms of Shura:

Islam has not identified a particular form of Shura and left each society to decide on the form of Shura which suits its needs. One of the modern, contemporary forms is the Federal National Council in the UAE, or the Parliament, or the Consultative Council and other modern names.

I form a view:

of whether or not the following cases represent Shura and mention my reasons:

1. A specialist conducts a procedural research on the difficulties of learning in the school; he meets with the administration and students of the school and records their views:

2. A university student prepares a questionnaire on school laboratories and distributes it to students and teachers to respond to it.

3. The Minister of Education asked the teachers and parents of students to provide feedback on the developed curricula on the website of the Ministry.

Benefits of Shura:

These are summed up in reaching an opinion which is nearest to what is right. When is done it results in avoiding mistakes or exposing public and private interest to hazards. Shura allows for:

1. discovering existing energies and talents in society through reviewing expressed opinions and ideas,
2. positive participation in bearing responsibility,
3. establishing a culture of constructive dialogue in society,
4. unifying the energies and efforts of the members of society thus raising the level of performance and achievement in this society.

I explain

in cooperation with my group the hazards of neglecting Shura by each of:

The person asking for consultation
The consultant

The qualities of consultants

The qualities of consultants depend on the subject of consultation as each matter has an aspect of particularity which determines the qualities of the persons being consulted. Economic issues differ from medical and social issues, for instance. However, there are basic qualities which must be possessed by the consultant including:

- sincerity and honesty: in order to realize integrity as regards opinion and avoid personal interests and bad intentions.
- knowledge and expertise: so that solutions are practicable, feasible and executable.
- energies and talents: as the capabilities and talents of people vary and differ between one field and another. Some possess talents with respect to tackling social problems, for instance, while others have talents in the field of economy. This holds true of different fields.

I identify:

other qualities in the person I want to consult on my private matters:

Representative examples of Shura

- The Prophet (ﷺ) consulted some of his Companions (رضي الله عنهم) on reconciling Ghatfan on part of the produce of the dates of Madinah during Al-Ahzab Battle, and he adopted the opinion of his Companions (رضي الله عنهم).
- The Prophet (ﷺ) consulted Umm Salamah on Hudaibiya Treaty and adopted her opinion.
- He was consulted by Fatima bint Qays (رضي الله عنها) on her marriage after two men proposed to her and he advised her to marry Usama bin Zayd (رضي الله عنه).

I expect:

the effect of Shura on the lives of family members:

Between spouses

Between brothers

.....

Between parents and their sons and daughters

The rank of Shura and its etiquette

The Messenger (ﷺ) said, “A consultant is trustworthy” (Narrated by at-Tirmithi). If someone asks for consultation on an issue of concern to him, this signals his trust in the person he consults and his appreciation of the consultant's knowledge and experience. This dictates on the consultant to respond honestly by what he thinks is best. This is so because consultation is a trust and it is not permissible to be dealt with half-heartedly, to betray the trust by advising an action other than what is right. Thus Shura is an act of association and not dissociation; it is a realm of integration and cooperation to realize an interest. Shura also has a binding etiquette comprising:

1. preserving the secrets of people and not disclosing them,
2. to be conducted in a lenient style distanced from nervousness and impatience,
3. showing respect to the person seeking consultation and appreciating his trust and need,
4. avoiding conceit and boasting as regards others.

I mention:

some other types of Shura etiquette:

I think and discuss in cooperation with my classmates and under the supervision of the teacher the difference between Shura and democracy.

Rules of Jurisprudence

(al-Qawa'id al-Fiqhiyyah)

We read and explore

- explain what is meant by Rules of Jurisprudence (al-Qawa'id al-Fiqhiyyah),
- infer the importance of juridical maxims,
- explain the five normative juridical maxims,
- give applicable, contemporary examples of juridical maxims,
- make sure of benefiting from these maxims in life's affairs.

I take the initiative to learn

Mathematics, Engineering and Physics each has its rules; each one of the sciences has its rules. Fiqh (jurisprudence) also has rules organizing jurisprudential branches and bringing together its Sharia rulings to be contained in one system, thus facilitating matters of listing and referencing them in Fatwa (learned interpretation) and Ijtihad (independent reasoning).

I read and deduce:

I read the legal rules in the following two groups and then employ independent reasoning in deducing a common denominator (dhabit) which brings them together:

(A)	(B)
1. A urine leak invalidates wudhu (ablution).	1. Looking at the watch during prayer is a disliked act (makruh).
2. Defecation invalidates wudhu (ablution).	2. Playing with shemagh (headdress) during prayer is a disliked act (makruh).
3. Farting invalidates wudhu (ablution).	3. Playing with one's fingers during prayer is disliked act (makruh).
4. Discharging pre-seminal fluid invalidates wudhu (ablution).	4. An unnecessary movement during prayer is disliked act (makruh).
Dhabit:	Dhabit:

I use my skills to learn

Rules of Jurisprudence (al-Qawa'id al-Fiqhiyyah):

concept and emergence:

A juridical maxim: is a concise statement incorporating general legislative rules on matters similar to the juridical maxim and are subsumed by it. Rules of Jurisprudence are deduced from the texts of the Holy Qur'an, Sunnah and Islamic juridical rulings (Ahkam Fiqhiyyah). The formats of Rules of Jurisprudence were gradually established in the ages of the prosperity of Islamic jurisprudence (Fiqh).

The importance of juridical maxims

The Rules of Jurisprudence are of great value to a person pursuing knowledge; they assist in:

1. understanding and memorizing many similar jurisprudential (Fiqhiyyah) matters,
2. knowledge of the blessings of religion, its noble purposes and the fact that it suits all time and all place,
3. constituting a jurisprudential capability which enables a student to deduce jurisprudential rulings on new facts through qiyās (deductivd analogy).

Normative juridical maxims

Rules of Jurisprudence are not of the same degree; there are five, famous normative maxims which all fiqh schools of thought (ma āhib) have agreed upon relying on them. These maxims include branches of all fiqh sources (abwab). There are less comprehensive rules as regards branches than these maxims which are called ancillary juridical maxims. The five normative Rules of Jurisprudence are:

1. Acts are judged by the intention behind them (Al-Umur bi-maqasidiha (الأمور بمقاصدها))
2. Certainty is not overruled by doubt (al-Yaqin la yuzalu bish-shakk (اليقين لا يزول بالشك))
3. Harm must be eliminated (al-Darar muzal الضرر يزال)
4. Hardship begets facility (al-Mashaqqat tujlab al-taysir المشقة تجلب التيسير)
5. Custom is the basis of judgment (Tahkim al-'Adat wa al-ruju' ilayha (العادة محكمة)).

The first juridical maxim: acts are judged by the intention behind them:

First, the meaning:

The words and deeds of man are subject to his intention. His deeds are acceptable and deserve rewards if his intention is right. They are unacceptable and constitute guilt if his intention is corrupt.

Second, applications:

1. If one gives a present to another person and one's intention is affinity and love in the path to Allah (عزّ وجلّ), one will be rewarded. If one's intention is to invalidate what is right or to validate what is wrong, the present turns into bribe and guilt.

2. If a man marries for the purpose of tahlil (تحليل the process of contracting a second marriage for a woman after a triple/final divorce), his marriage is invalid. This is so because the purpose of legislating marriage is endurance, continuity and realizing the chastity and tranquility of the self. This kind of fake marriage does not realize any one of these purposes.
3. If someone buys a commodity on a deferred (muajjal) price and then sells it to the same original seller on a lesser cash price, this is forbidden and is called Bai' al inah (literally, "a loan in the form of a sale"). This is so because selling here is fake and its real intention is to obtain a riba-based loan.
4. Among contemporary applications of this maxim is the following: if the purpose of a plastic surgery operation is to change a faultless appearance in order to be the lookalike of someone else in order to change the figure known to security services and escape justice- this is forbidden.

Third, evidence:

Omar bin Al Khattab (رضي الله عنه) reported that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, "Verily, deeds are judged according to intentions" (Narrated by al-Bukhārī).

Fourth, the purpose of correcting intention:

1. Intention is a condition for the validity of deeds,
2. Distinguishing acts of devotion from acts of habit,
3. Turning habit into an act of devotion, because if permissible deeds are intended for good and avoiding what has been forbidden by Allah (تعالى), they will be rewarded,
4. Distinguishing the meaning and significances of words.

I determine the appropriate title for each column:

Someone fasts during Ramadan because of faith and in order to seek his reward from Allah.	Someone perfects his prayer in the mosque and prolongs qiyam (standing) and ruku`in order to be seen by other people. However, when he prays at home, he performs prayer very hurriedly just like a rooster pecking.
Someone gave a poor man one thousand Dirhams for the sake of Allah (تَعَالَى).	Someone exaggerates in showing submissiveness so that people might see that he is committed to Sunnah.

I think of how each one of the following can turn his customary deeds into acts of devotion?

- A student in his course of study:

.....

- An employee in doing his job:

﴿وَابْتَغِ فِيمَا آتَاكَ اللَّهُ الدَّارَ الْآخِرَةَ وَلَا تَنْسَ نَصِيبَكَ مِنَ الدُّنْيَا...﴾

(سورة القصص: 77)

Wa Abtaghi Fīmā 'Ātāka Allāhu Ad-Dāra Al-'Ākhirata Wa Lā Tansa Naṣībaka Mina Ad-Dunyā

““But seek, with the (wealth) which Allah has bestowed on you, the Home of the Hereafter, nor forget your portion in this world...” (Sūrat Al-Qaṣaṣ: 77).

I infer

new objectives for taking into consideration purpose and intention:

.....

Second juridical maxim: certainty is not overruled by doubt

First, the meaning:

If one has doubts but one is possessed by prior certainty, one will not be bothered with doubts. Instead he refers to one's prior certainty because certainty is firm belief whereas doubt is hesitation as to whether something will occur or not.

Second, applications:

1. Whoever is certain of cleanliness and doubted hadath (حدث virtual impurity), he remains with the ruling of taharah (طهارة cleanliness and purification).

2. Whoever doubts one prayer: whether or not he has performed it? He is obligated to perform it because the action of prayer is doubtful and the essence here is that he has not performed it. Therefore, he is not cleared until he knows that he has performed it.
3. Whoever claims that someone is indebted to him or that someone owes him a right without evidence backing up this, the person alleged against is not entitled to repay the debt or acknowledge the right because the essence here is his being cleared.
4. The ultimate sign of death used to be that the heart ceases to beat. Modern medicine discovered that the end of human life is realized by the death of the cerebrum not the cessation of the beating of the heart. The heart may cease to beat; but with intensive care and resuscitation equipment the heart continues to beat. Therefore, the life of man here is certainty whereas hid death is doubtful. According to the juridical maxim certainty is not overruled by doubt; the person concerned here is to be treated as live because the essence in man is life; we cannot issue a ruling on the reality of death until doctor decides that the life of a patient has ended; only then can a doctor stop resuscitation equipment.
5. Any breakthroughs in equipment, creative gadgets, contemporary financial contracts and inventions are permissible (halal) if their damages do not take the upper hand and there is no Sharia evidence to proof that they are forbidden (haram). The essence in things is permissibility (Ibaha – إباحة) if there is no evidence of their being forbidden.

Third, evidence:

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said "If any of you doubts during his prayer and he does not know how many raka'at he has prayed, whether they three or four, then he should discard and cast away his doubt. He is to continue upon what he is sure of [i.e. the lesser] then performs two prostrations before making tasleem (As-salāmu 'alaikum wa-rahmatu 'llah (the concluding portion of the Muslim prayer: "Peace and blessings of God be unto you"). If he ends up praying five [raka'at], then his prayer will be an intercession for him; and if he ends up completely the four [raka'at] then it is vexing for the devil (shaytaan)" (Narrated by Muslim).

I apply

1. Someone doubts his tawaf (طواف going round Ka'abah) - whether or not he has gone round Ka'abah three or four times.

2. A youth woke up and saw semen on his underwear; but he could not remember having a wet dream. Is obliged to perform ghsul (washing of the entire body with water)?

Third juridical maxim: hardship begets facility

First, the meaning:

There are circumstances which bring about hardship or difficulty to man when applying Sharia rulings. Here Sharia intervenes to alleviate hardship and embarrassment by reducing the ruling. The whole Islamic Sharia is built on facility and negating embarrassment. However, what is intended by this juridical maxim is Sharia license which facilitates fixed rules because of an emergency reason necessitating alleviation.

Hardship is two types; therefore, the measure (ضابط) of hardship necessitating facility comprises:

1. Customary hardship: this is inseparable from worshipping such as the hardship of fasting in intense heat and long daytime and the hardship of Haj. These are not intended here and there are countless examples of this.

2. Uncustomary hardship: this is emergent and requires extra-effort such as hardship in travel and sickness. It necessitates alleviation and begets facility because it causes embarrassment.

Second, applications:

1. Alleviating hardship during travel through shortening four-rakat prayers, joining Dhuhr (noon and Asr (afternoon) and Maghrib (sunset) and Isha'a (night) as well as breaking fast in Ramadan and wiping over footwear (المسح على الخفين mash ala al khoufayn) for three days and nights.
2. Facilitating things for the sick through tayammum (تيمم - dry ablution) when it is difficult to use water, permissibility to break fasting during Ramadan because of sickness and the permissibility of praying according to the condition of a sick person: sitting up, lying down or signaling.
3. A woman observing iddah (عدة period of waiting) after the death of her husband is permitted to leave her house if she needs to do so such as going out to receive treatment, earn her living or buy groceries or the like if there is no one to do this on behalf of her.
4. If a sick a woman finds male doctors only, a male doctor is permitted to examine the location of ailment in the measure necessary for treatment.
5. An instance of facilitation on the basis of forgetfulness is not obliging a fasting person to perform qadha (قضاء carrying out or fulfilling) if he forgetfully eats or drinks.

Third, evidence:

Yurīdu Allāhu Bikumu Al-Yusra Wa Lā Yurīdu Bikumu Al-`Usra

“...Allah intends every facility for you; He does not want to put to difficulties...”
(Sūrat Al-Baqarah: 185)

I give examples

In cooperation with my group, I give examples of this juridical maxim in the domain of preserving the self by referring to different sources of learning.

- First example:
- Second example:

Fourth juridical maxim: harm must be eliminatedFirst, the meaning:

Sharia forbids harming the self or others by forbidding the occurrence of harm in the first place or by removing harm when it occurs.

Second, applications:

1. Whoever damages the property of others, he should either guarantee recompensing the damage by replacing damaged property, or by paying the value of damaged property in order to remove the damage being incurred.
2. It is obligatory to prohibit anything which is harmful to people's mental and bodily health as well as their wealth; either materially such as drugs, or morally by prohibiting the deeds of magicians, charlatans and conjurers who have no true knowledge.
3. Relocating factories and any source of inconvenience to industrial cities away from residential areas,
4. Plastic surgery operations are permissible if they constitute a treatment necessity such as treating bodily flaws and disfigurements or an inability consequent on an accident such as grafting burned skin. In these cases plastic surgery operations are permissible to remove damages from an injured person.

Third, evidence:

1. Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Lā Tudārra Wa A-Datun Biwaladihā Wa Lā Mawlūdun Lahu Biwaladihi

“...No mother shall be Treated unfairly on account of her child. Nor father on account of his child...” (Sūrat Al-Baqarah: 233)

2. Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said "There should be neither harming nor reciprocating harm" (Narrated by Malik).

I give examples:

of this juridical maxim in cooperation with my group and by referring to different sources of learning.

- Example:

Fifth juridical maxim:

custom is the basis of judgment

First, the meaning:

Words and deeds which people are accustomed to and have normalized are ascribable to norms and considerable customs if they do not contravene a Sharia text and have no measure (ضابط) in Sharia or language.

Custom denotes recurring happenings with the majority of people; these happenings recur until they become acceptable, i.e. people do not object to them or feel that they are exotic. Convention is a matter which most people are accustomed to and which belongs to words, deeds or avoidance. If a matter is subject to judgment, this denotes that settlement and ruling constitute the basis of adjudication between people.

Second applications:

1. Explaining the terms used by people in their transactions. If two people engage in buying and selling through unspecified currency and differ, the frame of reference in this case shall be the currency of the country where the transaction takes place. For instance, the frame of reference in the UAE is the UAE Dirham, and so on.

2. Explaining the terms used by people in expressing their faith. If someone swears saying, "By Allah I will not eat meat". He does not forswear his oath if he eats fish or chicken because meat conventionally means red meat such as the meat of cattle. Fish or chicken are not conventionally called meat.
3. The obligation to spend on the wife and children; living expenditure is not specifically determined in Sharia and the reference in this regard is convention.
4. The permissibility of issuing ta'zir (تعزير the discretion of the judge) verdicts to deter corrupters and criminals. The first one to do so was Umar ibn Abd al-Aziz (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ). He said, "People will be judged in a manner proportionate to their debauchery".
5. Permissibility of closing mosques at times in-between prayers in order to protect mosques against theft and misuse by irresponsible people.

Third, evidence:

1. Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Wa Lahunna Mithlu Al-Ladhī `Alayhinna Bil-Ma`rūfi

"And women shall have rights similar to the rights against them, according to what is equitable..." (Sūrat Al-Baqarah: 228)

2. The Messenger (ﷺ) said to Hind bint 'Utbah (رضي الله عنها) "Take what is sufficient for you and your child, on a reasonable basis (Narrated by al-Bukhārī').

Sustainability in Islamic Methodology

- explain the concept of sustainability.
- explain the position of Islam towards sustainability.
- identify the importance of sustainability.
- demonstrate the relationship between sustainability and construction of the earth (emaar al ard).
- discover the efforts exerted by the UAE in the field of sustainability.
- contribute to enhancing sustainable development in its different forms.

I take the initiative to learn

Our planet is in danger - Our existence is in danger!

These are screams coming from environmentalists which we have often heard in recent times. They set off alarm bells to warn us that the planet we know and the usual climate in different regions in the world are gradually changing because of fossil energy, which changes into poisons in the atmosphere. This results in increasing the temperature of the earth, rising sea levels, disappearance of glaciers, submergence of shores, desertification, gradual soil salinity, loss of agricultural resources and sudden environmental catastrophes. If urgent measures are not taken in the face of this and pouring of carbon into the atmosphere continues in rising rates, this will bring about catastrophes not only on mankind, but on plant, marine and animal lives alike. Thus man out of sheer greed will have annihilated the planet he lives on while arrogantly, extravagantly and recklessly searching for affluence and luxurious life styles.

In order to avoid this sombre fate, the leaders of the world have of late accorded attention to this decisive issue. International symposia and conferences were convened to meet this danger which threatens the human race and its survival in the future. However, these leaders are still divided around many issues such as accelerating the pace of finding the necessary legal and financial means and standardizing the concepts of development and sustainability. This makes betting on reaching international accord as regards this problem a sheer gamble with the future and everything of beauty and necessity for living on the surface of our planet.

I infer:

some of the causes leading to climate change in the world :

I use my skills to learn

The concept of sustainability

Linguistically: sustain means to strengthen physically, to make something endure, last.

Terminologically: the term sustainability is new; it appeared at the turn of the last century and it has many definitions, which revolve round one meaning: meeting the needs of the present generations without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs. This fact thrusts on the shoulders of every generation a responsibility towards the generation coming after it. This responsibility is embodied in the necessity of preserving and developing natural resources in order to meet the needs of the current generation and remain to meet the needs of future generations as well.

No doubt each generation has circumstances and challenges imposing on it a form of dealing with the environment. However, with sound planning and a future-oriented perspective it is possible to realize the goal of sustainability, which is improving human life in terms of respecting the environment and creating synergy with it, realizing socio-economic development and spreading a culture of security and peace in societies.

I discuss

Sustainability from an Islamic perspective

The 'utterance' sustainability is not present in the heritage of Islamic thought; however, the concept of sustainability has a strong presence in the life of a Muslim. This manifests itself through basic pillars constituting a Muslim's perspective of, and position towards, the universe and creations. This dictates on a Muslim a balanced behavior with his surroundings and the components of these surroundings because he is accountable on his actions towards these surroundings. These pillars are:

First pillar: construction of earth (emarat al ard)

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿... هُوَ أَنشَأَكُم مِّنَ الْأَرْضِ وَأَسْتَعْمَرَكُمْ فِيهَا...﴾
(سورة هود: 61)

Huwa 'Ansha'akum Mina Al-'Ardi Wa Asta`marakum Fihā

“... It is He Who hath produced you from the earth and settled you therein...”
(Sūrat Hūd: 61)

The holy verse confirms the mission of man on earth in a manner of continuity- (وَاسْتَعْمَرَكُمْ فِيهَا) Wa Asta`marakum Fihā) “settled you therein”. This is an unceasing mission which comes to an end only by meeting Allah (سُبْحَانَهُ). Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿يَتَأْتِيهَا الْإِنْسَانُ إِنَّكَ كَادِحٌ إِلَىٰ رَبِّكَ كَدْحًا فَمُلْقِيهِ ۖ﴾
(سورة الانشقاق: 6)

Yā 'Ayyuhā Al-'Insānu 'Innaka Kādihun 'Ilā Rabbika Kadhāan Famulāqīhi

“O you man! Verily you are ever toiling on towards your Lord- painfully toiling, - but you shall meet Him” (Sūrat Al-'Inshiqāq: 6).

In Arabic, the verse informs of inclusiveness as the verb takes the plural form 'أَنْشَأَكُمْ' 'Ansha'akum' .. the 'you' in English is meant to denote the plural. This 'you' comprises men and women, adults and children, believers and non-believers; it is the responsibility of all.

This makes it clear that the concept of construction and development must be humanitarian, universal and sustainable in all fields. It is not restricted to a society, state or nation to the exclusion of others. The entire human society must cooperate in this because no single state can tackle global warming by itself, or combat pollution or other challenges facing the environment without the cooperation of all other states, or without interchanging knowledge and expertise, or respecting others and their beliefs, cultures and heritages or appreciating their knowledge and efforts.

the means of man's success in construction of earth.

3.

I infer

some obstacles to sustainability:

Second: balance between production and consumption:

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Liyunfiq Dhū Sa`atin Min Sa`atihi

“...then spend (your substance) on them ...” (Sūrat Aṭ-Ṭalāq: 6)

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Wa Al-Ladhīna ‘Idhā ‘Anfaqū Lam Yusrifū Wa LamYaqturū Wa Kāna Bayna Dhālika Qawāmāan

“Those who, when they spend, are not extravagant and not niggardly, but hold a just (balance) between those (extremes)” (Sūrat Al-Furqān: 61)

Moderation in consumption and linking it to capability (production) achieves sustainability with respect to all resources. The prohibition of extravagance follows this to control man's consumption in all conditions. Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿إِنَّ الْمُبَذِّرِينَ كَانُوا إِخْوَانَ الشَّيْطَانِ ط وَكَانَ الشَّيْطَانُ لِرَبِّهِ كَفُورًا﴾

(سورة الإسراء: 27)

'Inna Al-Mubadhdhirīna Kānū 'Ikhwāna Ash-Shayāṭīni Wa Kāna Ash-Shayṭānu Lirabbihi Kafūrān

“Verily spendthrifts are brothers of the Evil Ones; and the Evil One is to his Lord (himself) ungrateful” (Sūrat Al-'Isrā': 27)

The Messenger, ﷺ, said to Sa'd (رضي الله عنه), when Sa'd asked, “Can there be any extravagance in wudoo'?”, “Yes, even if you are on the bank of a flowing river” (Musnad Ahmed).

Moderation in consumption means meeting the needs of the individual and preserving resources against depletion and wasting; this is of the very essence of obeying Allah (تَعَالَى) and committing oneself to worshipping in its general concept. Going back to the concept of sustainability, we will find out that it is piece and parcel part of the normal behavior of Muslims and a responsibility associated with the trust which has been borne by the sons of Adam. Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿إِنَّا عَرَضْنَا الْأَمَانَةَ عَلَى السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَالْجِبَالِ فَأَبَيْنَ أَنْ يَحْمِلَهَا وَأَشْفَقْنَ مِنْهَا﴾

﴿وَحَمَلَهَا الْإِنْسَانُ إِنَّهُ كَانَ ظَلُومًا جَهُولًا﴾

(سورة الأحزاب: 72)

'Innā `Arađnā Al-'Amānata `Alá As-Samāwāti Wa Al-'Arđi Wa Al-Jibāli Fa'abayna `An Yaĥmilnahā Wa `Ashfaqna Minhā Wa Ĥamalahā Al-'Insānu 'Innahu Kāna Źalūmāan Jahūlāan

"We did indeed offer the Trust to the Heavens and the Earth and the Mountains; but they refused to undertake it, being afraid thereof: but man undertook it;- He was indeed unjust and foolish" (Sūrat Al-'Aĥzāb: 72)

Allah (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى) has preordained that the succession of man on earth and the act of bearing trust are only achievable on this earth as man needs to preserve the earth and coexist with others in order to realize his mission in the right manner before his Lord (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ).

I explain:

How we show our worthiness of realizing the trust in the way we deal with public parks and forests?

Third: work and cooperation:

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿... عَنِ الْمَسْجِدِ الْحَرَامِ أَنْ تَعْتَدُوا وَتَعَاوَنُوا عَلَى الْبِرِّ وَالتَّقْوَىٰ وَلَا تَعَاوَنُوا عَلَى الْإِثْمِ وَالْعُدْوَانِ...﴾
(سورة المائدة: 2)

Ani Al-Masjidi Al-Ĥarāmi `AnTa` tadū Wa Ta`āwanū `Alá Al-Birri Wa At-Taqwá Wa Lā Ta`āwanū `Alá Al-'Ithmi Wa Al-'Udwāni

"...out of the Sacred Mosque lead you to transgression (and hostility on your part). Help you one another in righteousness and piety, but help you not one another in sin and rancour: ..." (Sūrat Al-Mā'idah: 2)

Allah (تَعَالَى) commands us to engage in constructive, productive cooperation that serves all. This cooperation requires the kind of work in which all efforts unify in order to yield wholesome fruits. The verse also forbids us to engage in sin and aggression on their entireties whether the aggression is on man, beast, plant or inanimate things. A Muslim avoids engaging in any form of aggression. There is a condition of cooperation mentioned in the verse as well as an explicit command to work in the words of Allah (تَعَالَى):

Wa Quli A`malū Fasayará Allāhu `Amalakum WaRasūluhu Wa Al-Mu`uminūna Wa Saturaddūna `Ilá `ĀlimiAl-Ghaybi Wa Ash-Shahādati Fayunabbi`ukum Bimā Kuntum Ta`malūna

“And say: “Work (righteousness): Soon will Allah observe your work, and His Messenger, and the Believers” (Sūrat At-Tawbah:105)

Both these constitute a direct instruction to observe public interest, development, progress, developing resources and increasing production and all these achieve sustainability.

Also, Islam has made knowledge, perfection and sincerity controls and checks on work. The Messenger, ﷺ, said: “Allah loves if any of you have done a deed to perfect it” (al-Jaami' as-Sagheer). Perfecting one's job achieves quality and assists in realizing sustainability. Therefore, a Muslim should be keen on work and cooperation as commanded by the rules of his religion and in order to please his Lord (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى). Muslims work, produce and develop in obedience to Allah (تَعَالَى) and also avoid aggression on the resources of the environment in obedience to Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ).

I identify:

some requirements of achieving quality:

I explain:

the relationship between achieving quality and sustainability.

Fourth: favors of Allah on earth:

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Huwa Al-Ladhī Khalaqa Lakum Mā Fī Al-'Ardī Jamī`ān

“It is He Who hath created for you all things that are on earth...” (Sūrat Al-Baqarah:29)

Also, (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى)

Wa 'In Ta`uddū Ni`mata Allāhi Lā Tuḥṣūhā 'Inna Allāha Laghafūrun Raḥīmūn

If you would count up the favours of Allah, never would you be able to number them: for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful (Sūrat An-Nahl:18)

A Muslim perceives of all creations as favors from Allah (تَعَالَى) to the sons of Adam and this obligates man to thank the One who has done him these favors. Thanking here is intended to be in words and deeds, i.e. preserving these favors, maintaining them and benefiting from them without extravagance.

On the other hand, a believer perceives of Allah's creations in the universe as signs evidencing the greatness of the Creator (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى); they are objects of respect and appreciation in exaltation of their Creator. Therefore, a believer never disregards something created by Allah irrespective of how much he needs it. Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Wa Mā Min Dābbatin Fī Al-'Ardi Wa Lā Ṭā'irin Yaṭru Bijanāhayhi 'Illā 'Umamun 'Amthālukum Mā Farratnā FīAl-Kitābi Min Shay'in Thumma 'Ilā Rabbihim Yuhsharūna

“There is not an animal (that lives) on the earth, nor a being that flies on its wings, but (forms part of) communities like you. Nothing have we omitted from the Book, and they (all) shall be gathered to their Lord in the end”. (Sūrat Al-ʿAn`ām:29)

The bee for instance is a small insect; but Allah has treasured in it therapeutics for many diseases. Given all this, we conclude that a believer conserves and develops the environment having for a point of departure faith and ethics. This sets in action a system of internal self-control because he knows that he is accountable for his actions towards the favors of Allah (تَعَالَى) to him.

Someone ridiculed another for not being handsome. This other person said, “Do you find fault with the make or the maker?”

The importance of sustainability

Sustainability entwines great importance as regards the life and future of man on earth. This importance manifests itself through the practical outcomes sustainability achieves in many domains including:

- Achieving universal development: economic and social development through cooperation in developing and conserving resources,
- Meeting the needs of man: by increasing production and controlling consumption thus providing affluence and happiness to nations,
- Achieving security and stability to the people of the earth: through cooperation and realizing common interests between them such as food security,
- Protecting the health of man: by providing food, medicines and combating diseases world-wide,

- Scientific progress: that accompanies development and progress resulting from achieving sustainability,
- Helping in providing a better life: for future generations and the continuance of the survival of man on this earth as long as Allah (تَعَالَى) wills.

I infer

the Prophet's directives as regards respecting the environment and maintaining its endurance as they figure in the following texts:

- "There is no Muslim who plants a tree or sows seeds and then a bird, or a person, or an animal eats from it except that it is charity for him."

- "Let no one urinates in still, non-running water and then uses it to bathe in."

- "A woman entered the (Hell) Fire because of a cat which she had tied, neither giving it food nor setting it free to eat from the vermin of the earth."

Illuminations

﴿... وَإِنْ مِنْ شَيْءٍ إِلَّا يُسَبِّحُ بِحَمْدِهِ وَلَكِنْ لَا تَفْقَهُونَ تَسْبِيحَهُمْ...﴾

I explain

the relationship between each of the following with sustainability:

- legislating the system of endowments:

A glimpse of sustainability in the UAE:

If one reflects on the march of the UAE, which is based on its fixed original perceptions of environmental protection, one will instantly notice huge achievements in the field of sustainability that have conferred on the state a position ahead of other states in this domain. The efforts exerted by Sheikh Zayed (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) in combating desertification and greening the environment and the effect of this on soil and climate represent a monumental achievement which earned him the title of the "Man of Environment and Development". Also, the efforts exerted by our wise leadership by taking giant steps in the field of sustainability, modernization and development give the best evidence of the achievements made by the UAE and of future aspirations.

Emirati foundations which are specialized in the field of sustainability have come into public notice such as sustainable cities, environment-friendly residential complexes and companies specialized in sustainability. This has turned the UAE into a global focal point. International associations have sought to establish partnerships with the UAE in order to promote a culture of sustainability, development and earth protection.

37. Behold! You did say to one who had received the grace of Allah and your favour: "Retain you (in wedlock) your wife, and fear Allah." But you did hide in your heart that which Allah was about to make manifest: you did fear the people, but it is more fitting that you should fear Allah. Then when Zaid had dissolved (his marriage) with her, with the necessary (formality), We joined her in marriage to you: in order that (in future) there may be no difficulty to the Believers in (the matter of) marriage with the wives of their adopted sons, when the latter have dissolved with the necessary (formality) (their marriage) with them. And Allah's command must be fulfilled.

38. There can be no difficulty to the Prophet in what Allah has indicated to him as a duty. It was the practice (approved) of Allah amongst those of old that have passed away. And the command of Allah is a decree determined.

39. (It is the practice of those) who preach the Messages of Allah, and fear Him, and fear none but Allah. And enough is Allah to call (men) to account.

40. Muhammad is not the father of any of your men, but (he is) the Messenger of Allah, and the Seal of the Prophets: and Allah has full knowledge of all things.

41. *O you who believe! Celebrate the praises of Allah, and do this often;
42. And glorify Him morning and evening.*

43. He it is Who sends blessings on you, as do His angels, that He may bring you out from the depths of Darkness into Light: and He is Full of Mercy to the Believers.

44. Their salutation on the Day they meet Him will be "Peace!"; and He has prepared for them a generous Reward.

45. *O Prophet! Truly We have sent you as a Witness, a Bearer of Glad Tidings, and Warner,-
46. And as one who invites to Allah's (grace) by His leave, and as a lamp spreading light.*

47. Then give the Glad Tidings to the Believers that they shall have from Allah a very great Bounty.

48. And obey not (the behests) of the Unbelievers and the Hypocrites, and heed not their annoyances, but put your Trust in Allah. For enough is Allah as a Disposer of affairs.

I understand the significance of the verses

Keeness on obeying Allah and submitting to His command:

The holy verses demonstrate that the command of Allah (تَعَالَى) requires submitting to, and being contented with, it. A believer has to commit himself to this command and execute it. The ruling by the Prophet (ﷺ) is a part of the ruling of Allah (تَعَالَى) and it is obligatory to obey it. The verse comes as a confirmation and application of the words of Allah (تَعَالَى) at the beginning of the surah: “ وَمَا جَعَلَ أَدْعِيَاءَكُمْ أَبْنَاءَكُمْ... ” (Wa Mā Ja`ala 'Ad`iyā'akum 'Abnā'akum) ...made your adopted sons your sons...” Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) ruled that His Messenger (ﷺ) was to marry Zaynab bint Jahsh (رضي الله عنها), who was the wife of Zayd bin Harithah before he divorced her. This was very difficult to the Prophet (ﷺ) because Zayd was his adopted son before the revelation the ruling of Allah (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى) nullifying adoption. The Messenger (ﷺ) did not disclose this matter lest he exposed himself to more hurt from some people. Allah (تَعَالَى) revealed:

﴿فَلَمَّا قَضَىٰ زَيْدٌ مِّنْهَا وَطَرًا زَوَّجْنَاكَهَا﴾

(Falammā Qadā Zaydun Minhā Waṭarāan Zawwajnākahā)

“...when Zaid had dissolved (his marriage) with her, with the necessary (formality),
We joined her in marriage to you...”

The wisdom of Allah (ﷻ) behind this is:

﴿لِيَكُنِيَ لَا يَكُونُ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ حَرَجٌ فِي أَزْوَاجِ أَدْعِيَائِهِمْ﴾

(Likay Lā Yakūna `Alá Al-Mu`uminīna Ĥarajun Fī `Azwāji `Ad`iyā`ihim)

“...in order that (in future) there may be no difficulty to the Believers in (the matter of) marriage with the wives of their adopted sons...”

if they divorce them and so the Messenger (ﷺ) married her. Here it should not be understood that the Prophet (ﷺ) hesitated in carrying out the command of Allah (تَعَالَى); he only hoped that Allah (تَعَالَى) would provide him with a loophole. Allah informed the Prophet of the fact that Zayd would divorce his wife and that he would marry her before the verses were revealed. When the Qur'anic verses were revealed, the Messenger (ﷺ) reported the command of Allah to people and carried it out without taking into consideration what he was going to face from some people. The words of Allah (وَاللَّهُ أَحَقُّ أَنْ تَخْشَاهُ) (Wa Allāhu 'Aḥaqqu 'An Takhshāhu) “...but it is more fitting that you should fear Allah...” do not mean that the Prophet (ﷺ) feared people and did not fear Allah (تَعَالَى); rather, they mean it is more becoming to fear Allah alone and not fear anyone with Him. This is meant to reassure the Prophet (ﷺ) and educate believers and instill politeness in them in order to commit themselves to the command of Allah and obey Him and also obey the person Allah (تَعَالَى) has ordered them to obey even if this is contrary to their wishes or to the customs which are not predicated on mental faculties or logic. Therefore, Sayeda Zainab (رضي الله عنها) used to boast of this and say to the wives of the Prophet (ﷺ) “Allah (تَعَالَى) (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى) from above the heaven who married me to (the Prophet).”

In a consistent, splendid and firm context, the holy verses continue and remind us of the rank of the Prophet (ﷺ) as regarded the believers and his favors to them:

First: Muhammad (ﷺ) was not the father of anyone of the believers because it was said, “He married the wife of his son”;

Second: He is Allah's Messenger (ﷺ);

Third: He is the seal of Prophets (عليهم السلام).

As for his mission, Allah (تعالى) tells us:

Mā `Alá Ar-Rasūli 'Illā Al-Balāghu

“The Messenger’s duty is but to proclaim (the message)...” (Sūrat Al-Mā'idah: 99)

How the Qur'an nullified the custom of adoption theoretically and practically?

I give evidence of:

Everyone who alleges the rank of prophet or messenger is a liar.

Those who perform good deeds will be recompensed in additional measures:

Allah (تَعَالَى) commands his servants to maintain enduring relation with their Lord and observe His directives in all circumstances. Observing the directives of the Lord consists in sincere intentions, perfecting deeds in acts of devotion and transactions, remembering Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ), thanking Him for his favors and obeying His commands and prohibitions. If a servant maintains a good relation with Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ), Allah will recompense him in this worldly life and the Hereafter. This compensation comes in the form of blessings and protection from Allah (تَعَالَى) as well as the good name attached to one by people, forgiveness and security in the day of cape terror, safety from Hellfire and abode in paradise. Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿أَلَا إِنَّ أَوْلِيَاءَ اللَّهِ لَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ﴾

(سورة يونس: 62)

'Alā 'Inna 'Awliyā'a Allāhi Lā Khawfun `Alayhim Wa Lā Hum Yaḥzanūna

“Behold! verily on the friends of Allah there is no fear, nor shall they grieve;” (Sūrat Yūnis: 62)

The verse then gives the details of the mission of the Messenger (ﷺ); these comprise taking people from darkness to light, giving testimony on them in the Day of Resurrection, giving the believers good tidings as regards entering Paradise and warning disobedient people of punishment in the hope of making them re-embrace faith.

The holy verses prohibited the Messenger (ﷺ) of obeying infidels and hypocrites and ignore their occasional insults.

I take the initiative to learn

Islam legislated rulings and laws organizing the way to end a marital relationship; these legislations include iddah (عدة waiting period). This is a period estimated by Shaira which a woman spends after parting company with her husband and refrains during this period from marriage. Iddah differs according to the causes of parting company and the condition of the wife.

I deduce:

from the following holy verses, the duration of iddah according to the condition of the wife and the causes of parting company.

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿وَالْمُطَلَّقَاتُ يَتَرَبَّصْنَ بِأَنْفُسِهِنَّ ثَلَاثَةَ قُرُوءٍ...﴾

(سورة البقرة: 228)

Wa Al-Muṭallaqātu Yatarabbaṣna Bi'anfusihinna Thalāthata Qurū'in

"Divorced women shall wait concerning themselves for three monthly periods..."

(Sūrat Al-Baqarah: 228)

The iddah (waiting period) of a menstruating divorcee is:

.....

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿وَأُولَاتُ الْأَحْمَالِ أَجَلُهُنَّ أَنْ يَضَعْنَ حَمْلَهُنَّ...﴾

(سورة الطلاق: 4)

Wa 'Ūlātu Al-'Aḥmāli 'Ajaluhunna 'AnYada`na Ḥamlahunna

“...for those who carry (life within their wombs), their period is until they deliver their burdens...” (Sūrat Aṭ-Ṭalāq: 4)

The iddah (waiting period) of a pregnant woman is:

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿وَالَّتِي يَبْسُنَ مِنَ الْمَحِيضِ مِنْ نِسَائِكُمْ إِنْ أُرْتَبِتُمْ فَعِدَّتُهُنَّ ثَلَاثَةُ أَشْهُرٍ...﴾

(سورة الطلاق: 4)

Wa Al-Lā'ī Ya'isna Mina Al-Maḥīḍi

Min Nisā'ikum 'IniArtabtum Fa`iddatuhunna Thalāthatu 'Ash/hurin

“Such of your women as have passed the age of monthly courses, for them the prescribed period, if ye have any doubts, is three months...” (Sūrat Aṭ-Ṭalāq: 4)

Sūrat Al-'AĤzāb 49-56

49. O you who believe! When you marry believing women, and then divorce them before you have touched them, no period of 'Iddat have you to count in respect of them: so give them a present. And set them free in a handsome manner.

50. O Prophet! We have made lawful to you your wives to whom you have paid their dowers; and those whom your right hand possesses out of the prisoners of war whom Allah has assigned to you; and daughters of your paternal uncles and aunts, and daughters of your maternal uncles and aunts, who migrated (from Makka) with you; and any believing woman who dedicates her soul to the Prophet if the Prophet wishes to wed her;- this only for you, and not for the Believers (at large); We know what We have appointed for them as to their wives and the captives whom their right hands possess;- in order that there should be no difficulty for you. And Allah is Oft- Forgiving, Most Merciful.

51. You may defer (the turn of) any of them that you please, and you may receive any you please: and there is no blame on you if you invite one whose (turn) you have set aside. This were nigher to the cooling of their eyes, the prevention of their grief, and their satisfaction - that of all of them - with that which you have to give them: and Allah knows (all) that is in your hearts: and Allah is All- Knowing, Most Forbearing.

52. It is not lawful for you (to marry more) women after this, nor to change them for (other) wives, even though their beauty attracts you, except any your right hand should possess (as handmaidens): and Allah does watch over all things.

53. O you who believe! Enter not the Prophet's houses, - until leave is given you, - for a meal, (and then) not (so early as) to wait for its preparation: but when you are invited, enter; and when you have taken your meal, disperse, without seeking familiar talk. Such (behaviour) annoys the Prophet: he is ashamed to dismiss you, but Allah is not ashamed (to tell you) the truth. And when you ask (his ladies) for anything you want, ask them from before a screen: that makes for greater purity for your hearts and for theirs. Nor is it right for you that you should annoy Allah's Messenger, or that you should marry his widows after him at any time. Truly such a thing is in Allah's sight an enormity.

54. Whether you reveal anything or conceal it, verily Allah has full knowledge of all things.

55. There is no blame (on these ladies if they appear) before their fathers or their sons, their brothers, or their brother's sons, or their sisters' sons, or their women, or the (slaves) whom their right hands possess. And, (ladies), fear Allah; for Allah is Witness to all things.

56. Allah and His angels send blessings on the Prophet: O you that believe! Send your blessings on him, and salute him with all respect.

I understand the significances of the verses

Rulings on divorce before the consummation of marriage:

The holy verse explains the rulings of divorce if it occurs before the consummation of marriage or Sharia Khalwat (close proximity); in this case the wife is not obligated to observe iddah (waiting period) or raja'a (رجعة resumption of marriage before the expiry of iddah period) if she is divorced once or twice. If the wife is divorced three times, she will not be permitted to marry her first husband until she marries another man and he divorces her or dies. As for her rights, she deserves half of the agreed dowry; however, if the divorce has no announced dowry before the nuptial night, she deserves the mut'a (alimony) of divorce, which is estimated by the judge on the basis of her husband financial abilities. This is intended to preserve normal relations between families and maintain mutual trust between members of society; this way the divorce becomes amicable and hurts neither party.

of the tolerance and justice of Islam as they figure in the words of Allah (تَعَالَى):

... إِذَا نَكَحْتُمُ الْمُؤْمِنَاتِ ثُمَّ طَلَقْتُمُوهُنَّ مِنْ قَبْلِ أَنْ تَمْسُوهُنَّ فَمَا لَكُمْ عَلَيْهِنَّ مِنْ عِدَّةٍ تَعْتَدُونَهَا فَمَعَهُنَّ وَسِرْحُونَهُنَّ سَرَاحًا جَمِيلًا

Min Qabli 'An Tamassūhunna Famā Lakum `Alayhinna Min

“... When you marry believing women, and then divorce them before you have touched them, no period of 'Iddat have you to count in respect of them: so give them a present. And set them free in a handsome manner”.

I make a judgment:

on the following case: a girl was divorced before her consummation of marriage. After three days a young man proposed to her and they want to contract a marriage.

The particularities of the Messenger (ﷺ):

There are many particularities which Allah has distinguished His Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ) with in order to show the Prophet's prestige and rank and to elevate his status. There are obligations specific to the Prophet (ﷺ) such as the night prayer (قيام الليل Qiyam Al-Lail); this prayer is a duty of the Prophet (ﷺ) and Sunnah to the rest of his nation. Also, there are certain licenses which are specific to the Messenger (ﷺ) and some of these relate to marriage affairs:

- his marriage to more than four wives,
- his marriage to a woman who gives him herself without dowry,
- prohibiting marriage to one of his wives after him; no one is permitted to marry one of them after his death.

Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) gave the Prophet a license to waive the right of some of his wives to have him spend the night with them; he was not guilty if gave spending the night with one of his wives priority over spending it with another one. However, the Prophet (ﷺ) was the fairest of people with his wives in all his actions; this is evidenced by the fact that he asked his wives (رضي الله عنهن) to give him permission to be nursed during his illness in Aisha's house and the fact that Umm al-Mu'minin Sawda gave her turn of Muhammad's conjugal visits to Aisha (رضي الله عنهما) without being asked to do so by the Prophet (ﷺ).

Also, there are some rulings which are specific to the Prophet (ﷺ) and are associated with marriage as was the case with the prophets (عليهم السلام) before him. These rulings include:

- It was permissible to him to marry paternal and maternal nieces on condition of migrating to Medinah before the conquest of Makkah because "There is no Hijrah (migration) after the Conquest" (Narrated by al-Bukhārī').
- He was permitted to retain his wives who were married to him when the verse was revealed and was prohibited to marry another woman after that.
- He was permitted to possess what Allah has assigned to him of enslaved women without war and this is obvious in the case of Maria al-Qibtiyya (رضي الله عنها) who was given as a gift to the Prophet (ﷺ).

As for the attempts to win the allegiance of some youth by the temptation of enslaving women, marrying enslaved ones and selling them, it is distortion of Islam, making people detest it and driving youth to the marsh of sin, crime and human trafficking. Whoever sets this as a goal does not belong to Islam because Islam has no relation with any of this. Muslims are the most qualified persons to preserve human dignity and the UAE laws criminalize degrading the dignity of people in any form.

I explain

prohibiting the marriage of the wives of the Prophet (ﷺ) after his death.

I find evidence:

In the holy verses of the following: It is not permissible to a woman to give herself as a gift in order to merely getting married by a man.

A form of offering prayer to the Prophet (ﷺ)

Ka'ab bin 'Ajra (رضي الله عنه) reported, "They said: 'O Allah's Messenger we have known how to say 'assalamu alayka'; but how do offer prayers to you? He said, 'Say: Allah, bless Muhammad and the family of Muhammad, as you prayed to Abraham and the family of Abraham. You are a glorious Hamid, and bless Muhammad and the family of Muhammad, as you blessed Abraham and the family of Abraham, you are Hamid Majeed.'"

When Allah' Messenger (ﷺ) married Zainab bint Jahsh (رضي الله عنها), he invited people (to the wedding feast) and they ate the meal. They then sat there and entered into a conversation. He made a move as if he was preparing to stand up, but the persons did not stand up. When he saw this, he stood up and when he did so some other person stood up and three persons sat there. The Prophet (ﷺ) came to enter; but he found people sitting there. Then they stood up and went away. Then I came and informed the Prophet (ﷺ) that they had gone away. He then came until he entered. I also went and was about to enter when he hung a curtain between me and him. It was on this occasion that Allah revealed

يٰۤاَيُّهَا الَّذِيْنَ ءَامَنُوْا لَا تَدْخُلُوْا بُيُوْتَ النَّبِيِّ... ﴿١١﴾

O you who believe, enter not the houses of the Prophet...." (Narrated by al-Bukhārī).

I explain the reason

Allah (تَعَالَى) permitted His Prophet (ﷺ) to receive whomever he wills of his wives (رضي الله عنهن) and to defer the turn of whomever he wills of them.

I draw a comparison:

between the rulings specific to the Prophet (ﷺ) and the rulings specific to the generality of Muslims in matters relating to marriage.

	Rulings specific to the Prophet	Rulings relating to all Muslims in general
Differences

Etiquette of entering the houses of the Prophet (ﷺ):

Allah (تَعَالَى) addresses His servants the believers and explains to them the etiquette of entering the house of the Prophet (ﷺ); this is done in appreciation of the status of Prophethood and the rank of the guardian. This etiquette comprises:

- A. Never to enter these houses except with leave to do so if there is a need.
- B. Never to enter these houses except when given leave to enter by Allah's Messenger (ﷺ).

Observing the etiquette of banquets which is as follows:

- A. Attending a banquet on an invitation given by the person holding the banquet.
- B. Not attending before the time set to have food by a long period.
- C. Not to stay for long after one finishes having food.

The holy verses also demonstrate the special status of the wives of the Prophet (ﷺ); the verses prohibit the marriage of these wives after the death of the Prophet (ﷺ). They are the Mother of Believers especially with respect to marriage. The verses also demonstrate the manner of addressing them; they command the believers when asking something from the wives of the Prophet (ﷺ) to have a curtain drawn between them and the Prophet's wives in order to purify the heart of the whisperings of the devil, clear the situation of suspicion and preserve the Prophet's house because he is the example to be followed by all Muslims.

The holy verses then exclude those who have the right to see the Prophet's women without a curtain; these are the origins, branches, the women of Muslims and the servants possessed by the Prophet's wives.

Moreover, the holy verses ask the believers to avoid hurting Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) whether materially or morally, in an explicit or implicit way, in words or deeds and whether during his lifetime or after his death. Allah (تعالى) says:

إِنَّ اللَّهَ وَمَلَائِكَتَهُ يُصَلُّونَ عَلَى النَّبِيِّ يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا صَلُّوا عَلَيْهِ وَسَلِّمُوا

*'Inna Allāha Wa Malā'ikatahu Yuṣallūna `Alá An-Nabīyi Yā 'Ayyuhā Al-Ladhīna
'Āmanū Ṣallū `Alayhi Wa Sallimū Taslīmān.*

Allah and His angels send blessings on the Prophet: O you that believe! Send you blessings on him, and salute him with all respect.

The verses contain a command to the believers to pray for the Prophet (ﷺ) and salute him with respect in order to honor and glorify him. The meaning of Allah (تَعَالَى) sends His blessings on His Prophet is that He is merciful to him and commends him to the angels closest to Him. As for the angels sending their blessings on the Prophet, this means they make du'a for him and ask forgiveness for him.

I identify

what denotes the following meanings in the holy verses:

- Exposing those who wait until food is well-cooked and then surprise a family by dropping by on a visit without a prior invitation.

- The extreme bashfulness of the Prophet and what he had been accustomed to of gracious morals and great qualities.

.....

- The absolute knowledge of Allah (تَعَالَى).

.....

I reflect and answer:

“...Nor is it right for you that you should annoy Allah's Messenger...”

Illuminations

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said,

“When you hear the muezzin, repeat what he says, then invoke a blessing on me, for everyone who invokes a blessing on me will receive ten blessings from Allah; then beg from Allah Al-wasila for me, which is a rank in paradise fitting for only one of Allah’s servants, and I hope that I may be that one. If anyone who asks that I be given Al-wasila, he will be assured of my intercession”.

- make sure of adhering to the values of equity.

I take the initiative to learn

Equity is one of the great principles in Islam which lays the foundations of a strong, coherent and cooperative society. In the same time it is an Islamic human value whose good effects envelop all people in a reciprocal process of influence without recourse to any other considerations. It is part of the believer's ethics elevating his status among people irrespective of differences in schools of thought (madhahib) and sources of knowledge. Equity is in essence a culture predicated on faith and civilization promoting tolerance and ethical and material integrity in society.

Someone who denies himself equity does himself, as well as the closest people, an injustice and loses a lot by doing so. Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿... وَمَا ظَلَمُونَا وَلَكِن كَانُوا أَنفُسَهُمْ يَظْلِمُونَ﴾

(سورة البقرة: 57)

The Messenger (ﷺ) said,

“The faith of a servant is not upright until his heart is upright, and his heart is not upright until his tongue is upright” (التريغيب at-Targhib)

I use my skills to learn

The concept of equity

Equity means is to give others what is due to them just the way you love to take from them what is due to you without taking into consideration the state of these others in terms of strength and weakness, knowledge or ignorance or belief or disbelief. The clearest and highest meaning of equity is when you are equitable to others as regards yourself by preserving their financial rights such as returning things entrusted to you and moral rights such as acknowledging their favors to you as well as their knowledge and ethics as long as they continue to merit this. Equity is the opposite of ingratitude and failing others or employing double measures.

Equity is of the very essence of a believer’s ethics; it prohibits him from following suit with others if they are inequitable and do not preserve rights. The Messenger (ﷺ) said, “Fulfill the trust of those to whom they are due, and do not be treacherous to the one who betrays you” (Narrated by at-Tirmithi).

By subscribing to this, morals are sublimated and a Muslim distances himself honorably from ingratitude and from being unjust to, and contemptuous of, others. The three- ingratitude, injustice and contempt- are conducive to arrogance while we know that an atom's weight of arrogance forbids one from entering Paradise. The Prophet (ﷺ) warned us of arrogance saying,

“No one will enter Paradise in whose heart is an atom's weight of arrogance.”

The Prophet, ﷺ, then said,

“Rather arrogance means rejecting the truth and looking down on people” (Narrated by Muslim).

Domains of equity

- Man being equitable to himself: man achieves this by maintaining a good image in society to be remembered. This involves admitting mistakes and adopting what is right in order to earn respect and trust among people. Man is also obligated to avoid self-destruction associated with engaging in doing forbidden things and committing sins. Self-destruction also relates to overdoing things and throwing on one the burden of doing things beyond one's capacity. Moreover, self-destruction comes through drug abuse and other harmful substances.
- Equity towards relatives and al-arham (relation generated by marriages, uterine relation): Here equity relates to bearing responsibility towards relatives and al-arham and involves giving them their dues, being keen on their happiness and preserving their dignity. One should not engage in practices which might disgrace or humiliate his relatives and al-arham and make them the subject of backbiting.

- Equity in work: Here equity is conceived of in terms of perfection, good performance and delivering in order to realize quality in work. It also relates to being equitable towards employees by appreciating their achievements, preserving their right and taking into consideration their special circumstances without affecting work or production.
- Equity in society: this is realized by preserving society's solidarity, security, stability as well as its values and achievements. One is also required to safeguard society against hazards and damages; in this regard one should not take something unlawfully even if one can do this and give public interest first priority.

I explain:

the form of equity in the following cases:

Case	Form of equity
A doctor with a patient
An advocate with a client
Society with the person in charge
A student with a teacher
An employee with the public
A merchant with a consumer as people feel secure with respect to their lives, dignity and wealth.

Effects of equity

- spreading confidence between people: people trust one another in their transactions and social relations and distance themselves from cheating, swindling and betrayal.
- preserving and maintaining rights: so that people feel secure about their lives, dignity and wealth.
- sublimation of the soul and feeling contentment: this is achieved through the ability to give and tolerate and a spirit to take initiative.
- enhancing the stability and solidarity of society.
- bearing responsibility and performing community responsibility towards all members of society.

A thief stole the shield of the Companion Rufa'a bin Rafi' (رضي الله عنه). The thief feared his theft might be discovered and threw the shield in the house of one of his neighbors, who was a Jew. Members of thief's family came to the Prophet (ﷺ) and told him of the place of the shield and said, "The owner of the house is the one who has stolen the shield". The charge was almost proven against the Jew. Thirteen verses in the Qur'an were revealed to defend the Jew and declare his innocence including the words of Allah (تعالى):

﴿ وَمَنْ يَكْسِبْ خَطِيئَةً أَوْ إِثْمًا يُرْمِ بِهٖءَ بَرِيئًا فَقَدْ أَحْتَمَلَ بُهْتَنَا

Factors assisting equity

Many things assist equity including:

- verification and intending truthfulness; one should not level charges against others without evidence, or smear their reputation.
- mentioning the good deeds of people and acknowledging their favors; it is unbecoming of a Muslim to be like a bad neighbor who hides the good deeds of others and publicize their misconduct.
- distancing oneself from fanaticism and bigotry because they make one deny what is right and suspect others.

- beneficial dialogue and abandoning repetitive controversy which leads to unjustifiable division, resentment and animosity.
- accepting excuses and apologies for mistakes; these are of the characteristic of people known for doing favors and maintaining tolerance.

LESSON 4

The Prohibited Degrees of Female Relations (al-Muharramat)

We read and explore

- explain the categories of forbidden women.
- explain the wisdom behind forbidding marriage to some women.
- identify the type of forbiddance according to the condition of woman.
- infer the wisdom of forbidding women who are temporarily forbidden.

I take the initiative to learn

﴿ فَهَلْ عَسَيْتُمْ إِنْ تَوَلَّيْتُمْ أَنْ تُفْسِدُوا فِي الْأَرْضِ وَتُقَطِّعُوا أَرْحَامَكُمْ ﴾

(سورة محمد 22)

Fahal `Asaytum 'In Tawallaytum 'An Tufsidū Fī Al-'Arđi Wa Tuqattī `ū 'Arhāmakum

“Then, is it to be expected of you, if you were put in authority, that you will do mischief in the land, and break your ties of kith and kin?” (Sūrat Muḥammad: 22)

I discuss:

- what is meant by al-arham (relation generated by marriages)?
- the rights of al-arham and the nature of the relationship with them.

I use my skills to learn

The wisdom of Allah (تَعَالَى) necessitated that man should be given the freedom to marry any woman he wants. In fact interest requires that men should not marry certain women because they are connected to the men concerned with close relations, or are they tied up in other relations. Forbidden women are two types:

Type one: women permanently forbidden

This category includes women who are forever forbidden because of kinship, in-law relations or breastfeeding.

- First section: forbidden woman because of kinship:

These are seven. Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

*Ĥurrimat `Alaykum 'Ummahātukum Wa Banātukum Wa 'Akhawātukum Wa
'Ammātukum Wa Khālātukum Wa Banātu Al-'Akhi Wa Banātu Al-'Ukhti*

“Prohibited to you (For marriage) are:- Your mothers, daughters, sisters; father's sisters, Mother's sisters; brother's daughters, sister's daughters ...” (Sūrat An-Nisā': 23)

1. The origins (usul) of the man: mother and grandmother even if the grandmother is a foremother from an earlier generation.
2. The branches of the man: the daughter, the son's daughter even if she is of a much further down progeny and the daughter's daughter even if she is of a much further down progeny.
3. Sisters of the same parents, half-sisters (one father) and half-sisters (one mother).
4. Paternal aunts.
5. Maternal aunts.
6. Brothers' daughters.
7. Sisters' daughters.

The wisdom behind forbidding marriage to the above-mentioned women:

- a. Sound human nature refuses this marriage and rejects it.
- b. So that the ties of blood (علاقات الرحم - uterine relations) which are intended to endure shall not be severed or undermines. Islam wanted the relation with forbidden women to be one of care, kindness, respect and appreciation because of kinship. Marital differences may corrupt this relation.
- c. Spread of hereditary diseases and disabilities which are focused and become inherent in the progeny. On the other hand, marriage to women who are not forbidden because of kinship renews the vitality of generations and their hereditary dispositions.

I expect:

the outcomes of the UAE law that requires having a medical test before contracting marriage.

I imagine and answer

A man married a woman and then discovered that she is his sister:

In case of having children, what is his relationship with them?
What is her relationship with them?
What do I call this overlapping and labyrinthine relationship?	Mixed

Second section: forbidden woman because of breastfeeding

Sucking: This means drawing the milk of a woman into the abdomen of an infant which is less than two years old. Relationship by breastfeeding is like relationship by marriage or kinship. According to the rule as regards the seven women referred to above, as soon as the mother's milk reaches the stomach of the suckling all the children of this mother become equal; whether those who have sucked their mother's milk with this child, or before or after it. They become his brothers and his sisters by breastfeeding because Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Wa 'Ummahātukumu Al-Lāti 'Arda`nakum Wa 'Akhawātukum Mina Ar-Radā`ati

“...foster-mothers (Who gave you suck), foster-sisters;...” (Sūrat An-Nisā': 23)

The Messenger (ﷺ) said ,

“What becomes unlawful (for marriage) through birth becomes unlawful through breast-feeding” (Narrated by al-Bukhārī and Muslim).

This applies to the suckling and his offspring; but his other relatives are not involved in prohibition because of breastfeeding. For instance, his brother by breastfeeding is permitted to marry his sister-in-law and his brother-in-law is permitted to marry his sister by breastfeeding, and so on.

Breastfeeding must have witnesses or must be documented by appropriate methods. It is recommended to do charitable deeds to the mother by breastfeeding because honoring her is recognition of her favor; but it is not obligatory to provide her with financial support. Also the two- foster mother and suckling- are not allowed to inherit each other.

Conditions on breastfeeding prohibition

1. the mother's milk reaches the stomach of the suckling irrespective of the amount.
2. the baby's sucking must occur before it is two years old because Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿وَالْوَالِدَاتُ يُرْضِعْنَ أَوْلَادَهُنَّ حَوْلَيْنِ كَامِلَيْنِ لِمَنْ أَرَادَ أَنْ يُتِمَّ الرَّضَاعَةَ...﴾

(سورة البقرة: 233)

*Wa Al-Wālidātu Yurdi`na 'Awlādahunna Ḥawlayni Kāmilayni Liman 'Arāda
'An Yutimma Ar-Radā`ata*

“The mothers shall give such to their offspring for two whole years, if the father desires to complete the term...” (Sūrat Al-Baqarah: 233)

I make a decision

Saeed sucked the milk of their neighbor Asmaa when he was two years old; hence he is forbidden to marry:

- her daughter because she is his sister by breastfeeding,
- her sister because she is his aunt by breastfeeding,
- her mother because she is his grandmother by breastfeeding,
- All the above.

Usma, the brothet of Saeed in the above example, did not suck milk from Asmaa, so he is forbidden to marry:

- the daughter of Asmaa because she is the sister of his brother by breastfeeding,
- the sister of Asmaa because she is the aunt of his brother by breastfeeding,
- the mother of Asmaa because she is the grandmother of his brother by breastfeeding.
- None of the above.

The wisdom behind prohibition because of breastfeeding:

The infant sucks milk and this makes his flesh grow and strengthens his body and because of this ties between the infant and the family of the woman breastfeeding him become stronger. Thus the infant is tied to the woman breastfeeding him the way he is tied to his biological mother; this is reciprocal because the woman breastfeeding the baby gets tied to him the way she tied to her son as he is a part of her. This yields great wisdoms and benefits including:

1. enlarging the circle of love between families in society as the suckling gets a new family because the woman who breastfed him becomes is his mother by breastfeeding, her husband becomes his father by breastfeeding and their children become his brothers by breastfeeding,
2. honoring the breastfeeding mother and recognizing her favor and the sublime relationship of the suckling with her,
3. cooperation and solidarity by satisfying the needs of children who need breastfeeding such as motherless children or in cases in which the mother is sick.

I make a decision:

One wants to marry a girl with whom he shared breastfeeding by a certain woman when they were children.

Section three: women who forbidden because of marriage relationships; they are four:

1. The wife of the father and the grandfather even if the grandfather is generations back.
2. The wife of the son, the wife of the grandson, the wife of the daughter's son even if they are a much further down progeny related by breastfeeding only because Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Wa Ḥalā'ilu 'Abnā'ikumū Al-Ladhīna Min 'Aṣṭābikum

“...(Those who have been) wives of your sons proceeding from your loins...”
(Sūrat An-Nisā': 23)

3. The wife's mother and her grandmother and grandfather as Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

'Ummahātu Nisā'ikum

"...your wives' mothers..."

These become forbidden as soon as the marriage is contracted.

4. A woman who is only forbidden by the consummation of marriage; this is the wife's daughter, who is called step-daughter because Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

WaRabā'ibukumu Al-Lātī Fī Ḥujūrikum Min Nisā'ikum Al-Lātī Dakhaltum Bihinna

"...your step-daughters under your guardianship, born of your wives to whom ye have gone in..." Sūrat An-Nisā': 23)

I conduct a search

A verse in the Qur'an signifies strong emphasis on marrying the fathers' wives. Refer to the Indexed Dictionary of the Words of the Holy Qur'an or any computer program for the Holy Qur'an and find this verse and write it down mentioning the number of the verse and the title of the Chapter (Surah).

I discover

Wafa, Mairam and Abdullah are the children of Suad whose husband died. After completing her iddah, Khalid married her and they were born Yazid and Khawla. Given that Ali is the son of Khalid from his second wife Manal, what is the solution in each of the following cases? Give reasons.

- Abdullah wants to marry Khawla?
- Ali wants to marry Wafa?
.....
- Khalid and Mariam agreed to get married?

Illuminations

Concluding marriage contracts with daughters prohibits marrying the mothers and consummating marriage with mothers prohibits marrying daughters.

Type Two: women temporarily forbidden

These are women whom one is prohibited to marry for a transient cause; if this cause ceases to exist, the prohibition ends and marriage becomes permissible, They fall into two sections:

Section one: women forbidden to avoid bringing them simultaneously together in wedlock; these are:

1. The wife's sister, Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Wa 'An Tajma`ū Bayna Al-'Ukhtayni

“...and two sisters in wedlock at one and the same time...”

2. The wife's paternal aunt, maternal aunt, bother's daughter and sister's daughter as the Messenger (ﷺ) said,

“It is forbidden to join in marriage at the same time a woman and her paternal aunt or a woman and maternal aunt” (Narrated by al-Bukhārī and Muslim).

3. Having simultaneously more than four wives as it was narrated that Ghilan bin Salamah Ath-Thaqafi had ten wives when he became Muslim and his wives embraced Islam as well; and the Prophet (ﷺ) said to him, “Choose any four of them and divorce the rest” (Narrated by Malik).

Section two: women forbidden owing to a transient cause if the cause ceases to exist one is permitted to marry them; these are:

1. Married women as Islam has forbidden a man to marry a woman married to another man as long as this other man retains her as his wife. If her husband divorces her or dies, she is permitted to marry another man after completing iddah because Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿وَالْمُحْصَنَاتُ مِنَ النِّسَاءِ...﴾

(سورة النساء: 24)

Wa Al-Muḥṣanātu Mina An-Nisā'

“Also (prohibited are) women already married...”

2. A woman observing iddah for a death or divorce until iddah is completed because Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿...وَلَا تَعَزِّمُوا عُقْدَةَ النِّكَاحِ حَتَّى يَبْلُغَ الْكِتَابُ أَجَلَهُ...﴾

(سورة البقرة: 235)

Wa Lā Ta`zimū `Uqdata An-Nikāhi Ḥattá Yablughā Al-Kitābu `Ajalahu

“...nor resolve on the tie of marriage till the term prescribed is fulfilled...”

(Sūrat Al-Baqarah: 235)

3. A man is not permitted to marry a woman he has divorced three times until she marries another and this other husband divorces her because Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿فَإِنْ طَلَّقَهَا فَلَا تَحِلُّ لَهُ مِنْ بَعْدُ حَتَّى تَنْكِحَ زَوْجًا غَيْرَهُ...﴾

(سورة البقرة: 230)

Fa'in Ṭallaqahā Falā Tahillu Lahu Min Ba`du Ḥattá Tankiḥa Zawjāan Ghayrahu

“So if a husband divorces his wife (irrevocably), He cannot, after that, re-marry her until after she has married another husband ...” (Sūrat Al-Baqarah: 230)

It is required that the second marriage is contracted and consummated because this is the husband's wish; it is not permissible to him to marry her fictitiously and then divorces her so that it becomes permissible for the first husband to marry her.

4. A woman assuming Ihram for Haj or umrah because the Messenger (ﷺ) said, "A Muhrim (one assuming Ihram) should neither marry himself, nor should he have marriage performed on his behalf, nor should he propose" (Narrated by Muslim). It is not permissible to one assuming ihram (man or woman) to contract marriage while he is observing ihram.
5. A woman who has no religion because Allah (تعالى) says:

﴿وَلَا تَنْكِحُوا الْمُشْرِكَةَ حَتَّىٰ تُؤْمِنَ وَلَا أُمَّةٌ مُّؤْمِنَةٌ حَيْرٌ مِّنْ مُّشْرِكَةٍ وَلَا
أَعَجَبْتُمْ وَلَا تَنْكِحُوا الْمُشْرِكِينَ حَتَّىٰ يُؤْمِنُوا...﴾
(سورة البقرة: 221)

*Wa Lā Tankihū Al-Mushrikāti Ĥattá Yu'uminna Wa
La'amatun Mu'uminatun Khayrun Min Mushrikatin Wa Law 'A`jabatkum Wa Lā
Tunkihū Al-Mushrikīna Ĥattá Yu'uminū*

“Do not marry unbelieving women (idolaters), until they believe: A slave woman who believes is better than an unbelieving woman, even though she allures you. Nor marry (your girls) to unbelievers until they believe...” (Sūrat Al-Baqarah: 221)

Islam has prohibited marrying a woman who has no religion because of the negative effects of such marriage on the family especially rearing children. As for a woman of the People of the Book, it is permissible to marry her if she is chaste because Allah (تعالى) says:

﴿...وَالْمُحْصَنَاتُ مِنَ الَّذِينَ أُوتُوا الْكِتَابَ مِن قَبْلِكُمْ...﴾
(سورة المائدة: 5)

WaAl-Muḥṣanātu Mina Al-Ladhīna 'Ūtū Al-Kitāba MinQablikum

“...but chaste women among the People of the Book, revealed before your time...”
(Sūrat Al-Mā'idah: 5)

Islam has made it desirous to man to marry a Muslim woman and not to be allured by the beauty of other woman; it has also obligated Muslim women to marry Muslim men only. The reason behind permitting Muslims to marry women of the People of the Book and prohibiting Muslim women to marry non-Muslims is that a Muslim believes in all prophets from our Master Adam (عليه السلام) and to our Master Muhammad (ﷺ). A woman of the People of the Book will not be converted from her religion by her Muslim husband because he believes in her prophet. On the other hand, it is feared that a Muslim woman may abandon her religion if she marries someone who does not believe in Muhammad (ﷺ) as a messenger and prophet.

I explain:

prohibiting the following:

- having a woman and her sister, or her paternal aunt or her maternal aunt in wedlock simultaneously.
- marrying a woman observing iddah (waiting period) until her iddah is completed.

I organize my concepts

Forbidden Women (to marry) man's origins, sisters, aunt, niece man's branches, aunt, niece

Breastfeeding

In-law relationship:

wife's origins, son's daughter,

Wife's branches: Father's wife

Temporarily forbidden:

Simultaneity: having two sisters in bed lock simultaneously, having more than four wives simultaneously, having a woman and her paternal or maternal aunt in bed lock simultaneously

Transient reason: a woman married to another man, a woman observing iddah, a woman assuming ihram on Haj or Umrah, a woman divorced three times, and a woman who has no religion.

- make sure of embodying the meaning of mercifulness in my daily life.

I take the initiative to learn

Mercy is one of the attributes of Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ). Allah (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى) opened the chapters of the Holy Qur'an with the words: بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ (Bismillahi-r-Rahmani-r-Rahim) "In the name of God, the Merciful, the Compassionate". He gave his servants good tidings saying:

﴿نَبِّئْ عِبَادِي أَنِّي أَنَا الْغَفُورُ الرَّحِيمُ﴾

(سورة الحجر: 49)

Nabbi' `Ibādī 'Annī 'Anā Al-Ghafūru Ar-Raḥīmu

"Tell My servants that I am indeed the Oft-forgiving, Most Merciful" (Sūrat Al-Ĥijr: 49)

It is written on Allah's throne, "My mercy prevails over my wrath" (Narrated by Al-Bukahari).

Mercy is tenderness in one's heart and indicates one's connection to Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ); hence it is said in a hadith qudsi (divine hadith): "If you are asking for my mercy then you ought to have mercy on my creation; those who are merciful will be shown mercy Allah" (Narrated by al-Bukhārī). The most distant heart from Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) is a cruel heart from which mercy has been taken away as the Messenger (ﷺ) said, "Mercy is not take away except from a naughty person" (Narrated by at-Tirmithi).

Allah's mercy is expansive and its domains are numerous, uncountable as it includes everything and reaches every creature. Every creature needs this mercy; thus Allah (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى) created mercy in the hearts of his servants and, therefore, people show mercy towards one another. The Prophet (ﷺ) said,

”Allah has divided mercy into one hundred parts; and He retained with Him ninety-nine parts, and sent down to earth one part. Through this one part, creatures deal with one another with compassion, so much so that an animal lifts its hoof over its young lest it should hurt it” (Narrated by al-Bukhārī).

Illustrations

The first thing which draws attention in the Book of the Lord of the Worlds is that every chapter in the book begins by the Basmala (بِسْمِ اللّٰهِ الرَّحْمٰنِ الرَّحِیْمِ "In the name of Allah, the most Beneficent, the Most Merciful") except Sūrat At-Tawbah. To the Basmala the two qualities of 'the most beneficent' and 'the most merciful' have been attached. It was also possible that Allah could have added to the attribute of mercy another attribute of His greatness such as the Magnificent One (العظیم), the All-Powerful One (القدير) and the Omnipotent One (الجبار). Bringing together these great two attributes at the beginning of the chapters of the Holy Qur'an shows the nature of the great religion, which is mercy.

كَتَبَ عَلَي نَفْسِهِ الرَّحْمَةَ

He has prescribed for Himself mercy.

I infer

- The absolute source of mercy

- An aspect of divine mercy in His true Sharia

I explain:

The significance of the words of Allah (تَعَالَى) in the divine hadith “Have mercy on my creations”.

I use my skills to learn

Muhammad (ﷺ): the Prophet of Mercy:

The great mercy of Allah (تَعَالَى) is signaled by the fact that He sent Muhammad (ﷺ) to all mankind to take people from darkness to light. The Messenger (ﷺ) was merciful to adults and children, men and women and even animals and birds and everything around him. This is consistent with the words of Allah (تَعَالَى):

﴿وَمَا أَرْسَلْنَاكَ إِلَّا رَحْمَةً لِّلْعَالَمِينَ﴾
(سورة الأنبياء: 107)

Wa Mā 'Arsalnāka 'Illā Raḥmatan Lil` ālamīna

“We sent you not, but as a Mercy for all creatures” (Sūrat Al-'Anbyā': 107).

The Messenger (ﷺ) often said,

“O people, I am but a gift of mercy” (Narrated by al-Bayhaqi). He said this so that people might follow his example.

The Messenger (ﷺ) suffered much oppression among his people; they said he was a liar, hurt him and coercively expelled him from his hometown with while he was saying, “O Allah, guide my people because they do not know”. Sharia texts and his fragrant Sirah are full of evidence of the mercifulness of the Messenger (ﷺ) in the most magnificent and elegant forms.

I find evidence:

of the following in what is mentioned above.

- Mercy is the goal of the mission of the Messenger (ﷺ) and his message to the world.
- Allah’s Messenger (ﷺ) embodied the attribute of mercifulness in everything even with his enemies.

The Characteristics of the mercifulness of the Messenger (ﷺ):

In order to grasp the amount of mercy in the heart of Allah's Messenger (ﷺ), one must go back to the source of this mercy and its characteristics in the words Allah (تعالى) uses to describe His Prophet (ﷺ):

Laqad Jā'akum Rasūlun Min 'Anfusikum `Azīzun `Alayhi Mā `Anittum Ĥarīṣun `Alaykum Bil-Mu'uminīna Ra'ūfunRaḥīmun

“Now hath come unto you an Messenger from amongst yourselves: it grieves him that ye should perish: ardently anxious is he over you: to the Believers is he most kind and merciful.” Sūrat At-Tawbah: 128)

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) derived his ethics and values from His Lord (سبحانه) and applied them to his behavior in the manner commanded by Allah (تعالى) and on top of these values is mercy. Mercy as practiced by the Prophet (ﷺ) had many characteristics including that:

1. It is fixed and universal

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) embodied the attribute of mercifulness in all his conditions, circumstances and stances. The Prophet (ﷺ) was merciful before and after his mission, merciful in victory and defeat, difficulty and facility and during his travel and stay in Madinah. He was the most merciful of men to people even with non-Muslims. He released the prisoners of war in Badr, set free the daughter of Hatim at-Ta'iy and was generous to her; in fact his mercy went beyond that and extended to animals, plants and inanimate things.

2. It is an end and a means

The Prophet (ﷺ) invited people to embrace mercy in a merciful way as it is an end and a means at one and the same time. This mercy was one factor of his success. He turned mercy into a means to combining hearts in affinity and solidify people as well as a means to stir dead feelings. Therefore, people embraced Islam in multitudes by means of this pure mercy.

3. It is balanced and moderate

One characteristic of the mercy of the Prophet (ﷺ) is that it was balanced. The Messenger (ﷺ) was merciful without showing weakness, modest with betraying humiliation, fair without treachery or breaking vows and covenants either in peace or war. This made his enemies trust his truthfulness and honesty. Mercy was customary in the ethics of our Master Muhammad (ﷺ); the facets of this mercy constituted a coherent and harmonious system in which no facet extends at the expense of another and no one militates against its parallel.

I discover:

some senses of mercy in the conduct of the Messenger of mercy in the following:

The Messenger (ﷺ) said, "Treachery is not acceptable in our religion" (Fiqh Al-Sirah).

Instance of the mercifulness of the Messenger (ﷺ):

First, with his family:

- Allah (تعالى) says:

Wa Min 'Āyātihi~ 'An Khalaqa Lakum Min 'Anfusikum'Azwājāan Litaskunū 'Ilayhā
Wa Ja`ala BaynakumMawaddatan Wa Raḥmatan 'Inna Fī Dhālika
La'āyātinLiqaawmin Yatafakkarūna

“And among His Signs is this, that He created for you mates from among yourselves, that you may dwell in tranquillity with them, and He has put love and mercy between your (hearts): verily in that are Signs for those who reflect.” (Sūrat Ar-Rūm: 21)

- The marital life of Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) was an application of these Qur'anic norms and therefore we find that he used to tell his Companion and nation frequently to take care of women and urge husbands to treat their wives with decorum on the basis of love and mercifulness. In this regard he said, “The best of people are those who are most beneficial to their families and I am the best to my family” (Ibn Hayyan).
- Sympathy and mercifulness to children induced him to carry them during prayer. Al-Hasan ibn 'Alī (رضي الله عنهما) when he was still a child came while the Prophet (ﷺ) was prostrating and sat on the Prophet's back. The Prophet prolonged his prostration for him and apologized to the congregation.

- One of the Prophet's daughters sent for him when one of her boys died and put him in the Prophet's arms while the boy was having his last breaths. The Messenger put the boy on his lap and showed compassion towards the dying boy "His eyes were clouded with tears. Sa'ad said to him, 'O Allah's Messenger, what is this?' He said, 'This mercy which Allah treasures in the hearts of worshippers; Allah is merciful to his merciful servants'" (Narrated by al-Bukhārī and Muslim).

I expect:

some results of mercifulness in the relationship between spouses.

Second, with his companions and nation:

- Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Fabimā Raḥmatin Mina Allāhi Linta Lahum Wa Law Kunta Faẓẓāan Ghalīẓa Al-Qalbi Lānfaddū Min Ḥawlika

"It is part of the Mercy of Allah that you do deal gently with them Were you severe or harsh-hearted, they would have broken away from about thee..." (Sūrat 'Āli 'Imrān: 159)

- Sayeda Aisha (رضي الله عنها) said, "Whenever the Prophet (ﷺ) was given a choice between two matters, he would (always) choose the easier as long as it was not sinful to do so; but if it was sinful he was most strict in avoiding it" (Narrated by Muslim).

He used to be kind to, and sympathetic with, children. Anas said he had a brother who was nicknamed Aba Omeir and he had a bird which died. The Prophet (ﷺ) entered upon us and said, "What is wrong with Aba Omeir?" They said his bird died. To amuse him, the Messenger (ﷺ) said, "Aba Omeir what did the bird do; Aba Omeir what did the bird do?" (Al-Mu'jam Al-Awsat).

I investigate:

other instances of the Messenger's mercifulness to his Companions.

Third, with opponents:

- The Prophet (ﷺ) was keen on guiding people and on their success; he used to rejoice and be pleased with those who find guidance and feel sorry and sad for those who refuse to be guided. Allah (تعالى) expressed this feeling of utter sadness in the heart of His gracious Prophet in His words:

Falā Tadh/hab Nafsuka `Alayhim Ḥasarātin 'Inna Allāha `Alīmun Bimā Yaşna `ūna

“...So let not your soul go out in (vainly) sighing after them: for Allah knows well all that they do! “ (Sūrat Fāṭir: 8)

- Abu Huraira reported it was said to Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) invoke curse upon the polytheists, whereupon he said,

"I have not been sent as the invoker of curse; but I have been sent as mercy" (Narrated by Muslim).

- Jabir ibn Abdullah (رضي الله عنه) reported, "They said 'O Allah's Messenger, the archeries of Thaqif have burnt us; invoke the wrath of Allah on them'. He said, 'O Allah, guide Thaqif to the right path'" (Narrated by al-Tirmithi).

This is the mercy of the Messenger (ﷺ) towards those who opposed him and paraded animosity against him; he expressed hope in their ultimate guidance and called upon Allah to realize this instead on invoking His wrath on them. He entertained benevolence and love towards the whole world and his goal was never the misery or annihilation of people.

I explain:

The following on the basis of the words of Allah (تعالى):

Falā Tadh/hab Nafsuka `Alayhim Ḥasarātin

"...So let not your soul go out in (vainly) sighing..." (Sūrat Fāṭir: 8)

The verse means do not kill yourself out of sadness and sorrow for them.

Who is meant by this address:

The significance of this address:

Fourth, with other creatures:

- The mercifulness of the Messenger (ﷺ) to mankind is of multiple types and at the same time he was kind and merciful to all entities even to birds, trees, animals and stones. “The Prophet (ﷺ) cursed anyone who made a living thing into a target (for practice)” (Narrated by Muslim).
- On a narration Abdallāh ibn Mas‘ūd (رضي الله عنهما) reported, “We were on a journey with the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) and he went out to relieve himself. We saw a red sparrow that had two chicks with her and we took her chicks, so the sparrow started to flap her wings. The Prophet came to us and he said, “Who has upset her by taking her children? Give her children back to her.” The Prophet also saw an ant colony which we had burned and he said, “Who burned this?” We said that we did it. The Prophet said, “No one should punish with fire except the Lord of the fire” (Narrated by Abu Daoud).
- Even animals knew about his sympathy, mercifulness and kindness; they used to complain to him of the oppression inflicted on them. “The Messenger (ﷺ) entered a garden among the Ansar. When a camel saw the Prophet (ﷺ), it started weeping and making sounds and its tears flowed. The Prophet (ﷺ) came to it and patted it on the head, so it became silent. The Prophet said: ‘Who is the master of this camel? To whom does it belong?’ A young man from the Ansar came and said, ‘This is mine, O Messenger of Allah.’ The Prophet said: ‘Do you not fear Allah regarding this animal that Allah has put in your possession? Verily, it has complained to me that you keep it hungry and tired” (Narrated by Abu Daoud).

I summarize:

aspects of the mercifulness of the Messenger (ﷺ) towards slaughtered animals on the basis of the following hadith:

- Allah’s Messenger (ﷺ) said,

“Verily Allah has enjoined goodness to everything; so when you kill, kill in a good way and when you slaughter, slaughter in a good way. So every one of you should sharpen his knife, and let the slaughtered animal die comfortably” (Narrated by Muslim).

Effects of the attribute of mercifulness:

1. Mercifulness raises the rank of the servant before his Lord (تَبَارَكَ وَتَعَالَى); therefore, you find the prophets (عليهم السلام) were the most merciful of people. Our master Muhammad (ﷺ) had the greatest share of this gracious ethical quality as his message is mercy to all mankind.
2. Mercy opens a gateway to hope and closes the gateways of despair; it injects safety and security into people because Allah's mercy overtakes His wrath.
3. Mercy is a means to disentangle those who fall in the snare of the devil and return them to the right path with leniency not harshness, with kindness not violence and looking at them with mercifulness not loathing, treating them with sympathy not with upper-handedness, disdain and overbearing.
4. By promoting mercy construction of earth is propelled, life becomes sustainable, resources become abundant and good spreads.

I identify:

in cooperation with my group the effect of mercy on the elderly as it figures in the hadith below:

- A man came to Allah’s Messenger (ﷺ) and said,

“I have come in order to be with you in Jihad and I have even left my parents crying.” Allah’s Messenger (ﷺ) said, “Go back to them and make them laugh just like you made them cry”.

I take the initiative to learn

Islam accorded attention to social relations between members of society and set rules and etiquette to guarantee the soundness of these relations and preserve their strength and cohesion. The Holy Qur'an discussed the smallest details even those that seem simple in view of the sensitivity of these relations and the way they are quickly affected by the words, deeds and events occurring inside society. To save society the danger of slipping into the abyss of factionalism and division with their attendant hatred and animosity, Islam established these relations on gracious morals, preserving and protecting rights and mutual respects between members of society.

The Messenger (ﷺ) said, "Whoever saves himself from suspicious things saves his religion and honor" (Narrated by al-Bukhārī').

I understand the significance of the verses

After having mentioned the honor bestowed on the Messenger (ﷺ) and his worth and rank before his Lord, Allah (عزّ وجلّ) warns those who hurt the Messenger (ﷺ) and threatens them with being expelled from His mercy and with humiliating torture. But how can man hurt His Lord (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى)? Hurting Allah (تَعَالَى) is effected by disbelief in Him and claiming that He has a partner, or relating a woman or child to Him, or as the Messenger (ﷺ) in narrates in relation to his Lord: Allah (عزّ وجلّ) said, “The son of Adam abuses me al-Bukhārī). As for hurting the Messenger (ﷺ), this is done by saying that he is a liar, undermining his honor or inventing lies about him. They said he was a soothsayer, magician and used other forms of hurt. Then Allah (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى) follows this up by prohibiting hurting believers through things like talking of their honor and violating their rights. Allah (تَعَالَى) demonstrated that whoever does something of this sort incurs falsehood and great lies. What is meant here is that whoever does so will bear the sin of inventing lies and consequently deserves torture in the Afterlife.

No one should imagine that abuse is prohibited if it comes from a non-believer only. It is more prohibited if it comes from a believer. A believer is not permitted to hurt others whether they are believers or non-believers because the characteristics of a believer is to be the most beneficial of people to people in order to be the most beloved of people to Allah (تَعَالَى) and this does not go with hurting others.

I expect:

with the group the damages a believer might incur from having his reputation smeared.

I draw a comparison:

Allah (تَعَالَى) says of those who hurt believers on no evidence:

﴿فَقَدْ أَحْتَمَلُوا﴾

(Faqadi Aḥtamalū)

bear (on themselves)

; He does not say “ حملوا (ḥamalū) bore”. I find the difference between the two.

أَحْتَمَلُوا (Aḥtamalū) bear (on themselves)	حملوا (ḥamalū) bore

The value of modesty

Allah (تَعَالَى) commands His gracious Prophet (ﷺ) to address all his nation and call it to adhere to the rules and etiquette of Islam, which fulfill the righteousness of the individual, the happiness of society and ward off hurt from both especially women because abusing women is an abuse to all- fathers, husbands, brothers, sons, relatives and others. Allah (تَعَالَى) commands women to observe modesty and chastity, to wear loose clothing (garments) covering all their bodies except the face and hands. This blocks the way in the face people of sick souls and evil intentions and saves women the cunningness and deceit of such people. Women's modesty also helps women in obeying their Lord anywhere, anytime. It has to be noted that the original rule remains fixed and obligatory: it is not permissible to invent lies about women, intrude on them or entertain suspicion about them or about other people.

The command to the Prophet (ﷺ) starts with the most endeared and lovable people to him- his pure wives, the Mothers of the Believers (Ummahat al-Mumineen) (رضي الله عنهن), his virtuous daughters (رضي الله عنهن) and then the rest of the believers' women. They are obligated to draw on their garments which do not allow seeing through or show the contours of their bodies, cover their beauties and adornments and thus evil words will not be used against them. But even if evil words are used against them, they are known for their modesty, chastity and virtuous morals and no one will accept or believe lies invented about them and

(Wa Kāna Allāhu Ghafūrāan Raḥīmāan)

And Allah is Oft- Forgiving, Most Merciful.

He forgives those who err and repent; He is merciful to His servants and legislates for them things that realize good and happiness for them in worldly life and the Hereafter.

I infer:

from the following holy verse one condition of a good example.

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

*Yā 'Ayyuhā An-Nabīyu Qul Li'zwājika Wa Banātika Wa Nisā'i Al-Mu'uminīna
Yudnīna `Alayhinna Min Jalābībihinna Dhālika 'Adná 'An Yu`rafna Falā Yu'udhayna*

“O Prophet! Tell your wives and daughters, and the believing women, that they should cast their outer garments over their persons (when abroad): that is most convenient, that they should be known (as such) and not molested...”

I find evidence:

in the above holy verse on the fact that the rulings of Islam are based on argument and logic.

I deduce:

the difference in the linguistic meaning of the verb cast in the words of Allah (تَعَالَى)

يُدْنِيَنَّ عَلَيْنَّ

(Yudnīna `Alayhinna)

cast over”

as this meaning is connected to the preposition used.

Cast over me	Cast to me	Cast on me

I identify:

in the words of Allah (تَعَالَى)

يُدْنِيَنَّ عَلَيْنَّ مِنْ جَلَابِيْبِهِنَّ

the following view: Hijab restricts the freedom of woman.

Re-adhering to what is right is a virtue

Our Lord (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) warns the hypocritical, suspicious and doubtful persons who spread fear among people and threaten the security and stability of society by circulating vicious rumors, falsities and exaggerating things to shake the pillars of society, spread disorder and sedition. This warning informs that if such people do not stop their erroneous deeds, they will have no place in society. This is an opportunity given to them to return to the right path and give up their twisted ways and the mistake they have done to their society before it is too late. Otherwise Allah (سُبْحَانَهُ) is capable of setting His Messenger (ﷺ) to expel them from Madinah (society) in a short period of time and this is meant to express the gravity of their danger to society. If this punishment does not deter them and they continue to engage in misguidance, treachery and betrayal, the Guardian is permitted to inflict on them the punishment they deserve even death because this is the law of Allah which is unalterable and unchangeable with respect to them and their likes over times. A sane person learns from the mischiefs of others, returns to rationality and rescues himself and others.

These seditionists make use of the negativity of some members of society who do not take the initiative to expose them to society and its institutions. Islam does not accept this kind of negativity; a Muslim is obligated to be positive, initiate good practices and accord attention to the affairs of his society, homeland and nation. The least required in such a situation is to sabotage the plans of these corrupters and uncover their falsity and cooperate with the guardian to ward off their danger and protect the country and its citizens.

I find a link:

between the following hadith and the holy verses in the lesson:

- The Messenger (ﷺ) said,

“The faith of a servant is not upright until his heart is upright, and his heart is not upright until his tongue is upright. A man will not enter Paradise if his neighbor is not secure from his evil.” (الترغيب at-Targhib).

Allah (تَعَالَى) created man and disposed the universe to serve him; He gave man the ability to benefit from all creatures. Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) bestowed on man the ability to plan, implement and assess and gave him the freedom to choose, will, forbearance and patience. الْأَمَانَةَ (Al-'Amānata) the Trust)	The duties Allah (تَعَالَى) has imposed on man.

I understand the significance of the verses

The Hour is truth

The last lesson of the Surah begins by people asking about the Hour and showing eagerness for its arrival. This shows their suspicion and denial of the Day of Resurrection because they do not believe in Allah (تَعَالَى). By doing so, they want to embarrass the Prophet (ﷺ) and mock believers in order to persist in hurting both. They wish if the Prophet (ﷺ) is saying things of his own making; but the Messenger (ﷺ) does not speak fancifully, he only conveys what he is commanded to deliver. The answer to the question about the Hour comes in a strict and decisive revelation:

﴿قُلْ إِنَّمَا عِلْمُهَا عِنْدَ اللَّهِ﴾

(Qul 'Innamā `Ilmuḥā `Inda Allāhi)

The knowledge thereof is with Allah (alone)

He made it clear that the hour is when He (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى) wills. A great advantage comes with the answer, which is a warning when the Hour is close by perhaps people heed this instead of being expelled from Allah's mercy. In further confirmation and in order that they take this opportunity, the context portrays a scene of Doomsday, which is abhorring to the suspicious and those who do not prepare themselves for that day. That day the faces of these people change color because of the blazing fire and they will scream in sadness and regret saying:

﴿يَقُولُونَ يَلَيْتَنَّا أَطَعْنَا اللَّهَ وَأَطَعْنَا الرَّسُولَ﴾

(Yaqūlūna Yā Laytanā 'Aṭa `nā Al-Laha Wa 'Aṭa `nā Ar-Rasūlā)

Woe to us! Would that we had obeyed Allah and obeyed the Messenger."

Had they done so, they would have been saved torture. However, they followed their chieftans in misguidance without thinking and their chieftans led them to misguidance until they ended in Hellfire. There is no one to help them or protect them from Hellfire and hence they request that their dignitaries and seniors in misguidance receive double their punishment for their disbelief and for misguiding others. The supplication (du'a) is usually made when the thing for which the supplication is made does not happen.

But the torture is being effected; so what have they asked for them?

I reflect and answer:

Some misleaders still carry on misguiding youth and making them suspect their fixed values. They instill in them the illusion that Muslim countries are the 'land of kufur' and it is not permissible to reside in them. Some of these youth believe them and join them out of sheer ignorance and rashness.

- I find evidence of the falsity of their call (da'wa).

I identify:

the wish of a disbeliever (kafir) in the throes of torture in Hellfire.

I explain:

doubling torture in the words of Allah (تَعَالَى):

Rabbanā' Ātihim Āi`fayni Mina Al-`Adhābi Wa Al-`Anhum La`nāan Kabīrāan

"Our Lord! Give them double Penalty and curse them with a very great Curse!"

I reflect and investigate:

some of the techniques misleaders use in deceiving youth:

I identify the outcomes of the misleaders' deeds and ideas in the world

Preserving the trust:

In complete harmony the context shifts from a scene from the Afterlife to the earth once again. It warns believers of being :

﴿لَا تَكُونُوا كَالَّذِينَ آذَوْا مُوسَىٰ فَبَرَّأَهُ اللَّهُ مِمَّا قَالُوا وَكَانَ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ وَجِيهًا﴾

*Lā Takūnū Kālladhīna 'Ādhaw Mūsá Fabarra'ahu Allāhu Mimmā Qālū Wa Kāna
'Inda Allāhi Wajihāan*

“...Be you not like those who vexed and insulted Moses, but Allah cleared him of the (calumnies) they had uttered: and he was honourable in Allah's sight.

This is meant as answer to the way some talked about the marriage of the Messenger (ﷺ) to Zaynab bint Jahsh (رضي الله عنها). This is the marriage through which Allah (تعالى) nullified the rule of adoption as it prevailed in Jahiliyya (Age of Ignorance). Allah (تعالى) always call upon them to say what is true and correct instead mockery and concealed criticism. When they do this, Allah (عز وجل) will make them successful in pursuing good deeds, forgive their mistake and guilt, inspire repentance in them and grant them for obeying Him (سبحانه وتعالى) and obeying His Messenger (ﷺ) great success, transferring them from Hellfire to Paradise by Allah's willing. Security on the day of greater horror is success, being distanced from Hellfire is success in itself and entering Paradise is success.

The chapter concludes in deep rhythm as it refers to the trust, which the Heavens, earth and mountains feared to bear. The trust is the duties imposed by Allah (تعالى) on his servants and man bore it inspite of its enormity. This is meant to realize the plan of Allah (تعالى) in arranging reward on deeds and holding man accountable on what he has chosen for himself:

﴿لِيُعَذِّبَ اللَّهُ الْمُنَافِقِينَ وَالْمُنَافِقَاتِ وَالْمُشْرِكِينَ وَالْمُشْرِكَاتِ وَيَتُوبَ اللَّهُ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ وَالْمُؤْمِنَاتِ وَكَانَ اللَّهُ غَفُورًا رَحِيمًا﴾

*Liyu`adhdhiba Allāhu Al-Munāfiqīna Wa Al-Munāfiqāti Wa Al-Mushrikīna
Wa Al-Mushrikāti Wa Yatūba Allāhu `Alá Al-Mu'uminīna Wa Al-Mu'umināti Wa
Kāna Allāhu Ghafūrāan Rahīmāan*

(With the result) that Allah has to punish the Hypocrites, men and women, and the Unbelievers, men and women, and Allah turns in Mercy to the Believers, men and women: for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.

Allah (تَعَالَى) threatened with torture those who have chosen suspicion, showing belief outwardly and hiding disbelief as well as those who made a partner to Allah in the Kingdom or worshipping.

As those men and women who belief in Allah (تَعَالَى), Allah (تَعَالَى) promised to make them retreat; what is meant by this is Paradise. The access to retreat is open to those who want to return to their Lord and resort to rationality. This is confirmed by the generality of the address:

﴿وَكَانَ اللَّهُ غَفُورًا رَحِيمًا﴾

for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful

The chapter is concluded by forgiveness and mercifulness so that no one despairs from the mercy of Allah (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى).

Student Activities

I answer by myself

First, explain: Allah (تَعَالَى) has not given anyone knowledge of the Hour.

Second, what is the significance of the words of Allah (تَعَالَى):

﴿ إِنَّا عَرَضْنَا الْأَمَانَةَ عَلَى السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَالْجِبَالِ ﴾

'Innā `Aradnā Al-'Amānata `Alá As-Samāwāti Wa Al-'Ardi Wa Al-Jibāli

We did indeed offer the Trust to the Heavens and the Earth and the Mountains

.....

Third, why has Allah (تَعَالَى) mentioned the rewards of belief and disbelief?

.....

Fourth, what is meant by the trust offered to mankind?

Fifth, obeying others on no argument or evidence leads one to misguidance. Explain this in the light of the words of Allah (تعالى):

﴿يَأَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا أَطِيعُوا اللَّهَ وَأَطِيعُوا الرَّسُولَ وَأُولَى الْأَمْرِ مِنْكُمْ...﴾

Yā 'Ayyuhā Al-Ladhīna 'Āmanū 'Aṭī'ū Allaha Wa 'Aṭī'ū Ar-Rasūla Wa 'Ūlī Al-'Amri Minkum

“O you who believe! Obey Allah, and obey the Messenger, and those charged with authority among you...” (Sūrat An-Nisā':59)

Sixth, explain the rule “rewards depend on the kind of deed” on the basis of what you have understood of the lesson.

Methodology of Thinking in Islam

(Critical thinking and constructive criticism)

We read and explore

- explain the concept of critical thinking.
- identify the skills of critical thinking in Islam.
- demonstrate the importance of critical thinking and constructive criticism.
- anticipate the objectives of critical thinking.
- make sure of respecting the other's opinion.

I take the initiative to learn

Allah (سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى) has honored man in exception to all other creatures; He (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) has given him the ability to distinguish between good and evil, right and false, correct and and incorrect. The methodology of thinking in Islam is based on criticism and examination through steps which go further than sheer understanding, a call to supersede the limits of superficial understanding of ideas and tales and employing thought in analyzing them to reach facts and choose the best. Allah (تَعَالَى) praised those who used their minds in distinguishing between what is good and what is bad in His words: ...

﴿... فَبَشِّرْ عِبَادِ ۗ الَّذِينَ يَسْتَمِعُونَ الْقَوْلَ فَيَتَّبِعُونَ أَحْسَنَهُ ۗ أُولَٰئِكَ الَّذِينَ هَدَاهُمُ اللَّهُ وَأُولَٰئِكَ هُمْ أُولُوا الْأَلْبَابِ﴾

18. “Those who listen to the Word, and follow the best (meaning) in it: those are the ones whom Allah has guided, and those are the ones endowed with understanding.” (Sūrat Az-Zumar)

I expect

the results of superficially thinking of matters.

This is reflective, purposive thinking which is assisted by the rules of logic, deduction and probabilities to assess a certain matter or to reach the solution to a problem.

I reflect and differentiate between critical thinking and problem solving on the basis of the above:

Critical thinking	Problem solving
Identifying advantages and disadvantages and then issuing rulings.

I find a link

Between lack of critical thinking and extremism:

1. alluring youth and changing their thoughts,
2. imitation and repeating mistakes,

Skills of critical thinking in Islam

- Islam has invited people to engage in thinking and reflecting; Allah (تعالى) says:

Wa Yatafakkarūna Fī Khalqi As-Samāwāti Wa Al-'Arḍi Rabbanā Mā Khalaqta
Hādhā Bāṭilāan Subhānaka Faqinā `Adhāba An-Nāri

“...and contemplate the (wonders of) creation in the heavens and the earth, (With the thought): "Our Lord! not for naught Have You created (all) this! Glory to You! Give us salvation from the penalty of the Fire.” (Sūrat 'Āli `Imrān: 191)

- Islam has called on people to investigate and gather information; Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Qul Sīrū Fī Al-'Ardī Fānẓurū Kayfa Bada'a Al-Khalqa Thumma Allāhu Yunshī'u An-Nash'ata Al-'Ākhirata 'InnaAllāha `Alá Kulli Shay'in Qadīrun

“Say: "Travel through the earth and see how Allah did originate creation; so will Allah produce a later creation: for Allah has power over all things.” (Sūrat Al-`Ankabūt: 20)

- Islam called on establishing argment and evidence; Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Qul Hātū Burhānakum 'In Kuntum Ṣādiqīna

“... Say, "Bring forth your argument, if you are telling the truth!" (Sūrat An-Naml: 20)

- Islam called on conducting dialogue and assessing views objectively without bias and subjectivity;

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

Wa 'Innā 'Aw 'Īyākum La `alá Hudan 'Aw FīḌalālin Mubīnin

“...either we or you are on right guidance or in manifest error!” (Sūrat Saba': 24)

Also, Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

... وَجَدِلْهُمْ بِالَّتِي هِيَ أَحْسَنُ إِنَّ رَبَّكَ هُوَ أَعْلَمُ بِمَنْ ضَلَّ عَنْ سَبِيلِهِ وَهُوَ أَعْلَمُ بِالْمُهْتَدِينَ

(سورة النحل: 125)

*Wa Jādilhum Bi-Atī Hiya 'Aḥsanu 'InnaRabbaka Huwa 'A`lamu Biman Ḍalla
'An Sabīlihi Wa Huwa 'A`lamu Bil-Muhtadīna*

“... and argue with them in ways that are best and most gracious: for your Lord knows best, who have strayed from His Path, and who receive guidance.” (Sūrat An-Nahl: 125)

I identify

in the following situation the skills of critical thinking:

Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

فَلَمَّا جَنَّ عَلَيْهِ اللَّيْلُ رَأَى كَوْكَبًا قَالَ هَذَا رَبِّي فَلَمَّا أَفَلَ قَالَ لَا أُحِبُّ الْآفِلِينَ

*Falammā Janna `Alayhi Al-Laylu Ra`á Kawkabāan Qāla

“When the night covered him over, He saw a star: He said: "This is my Lord." But when it set, He said: "I love not those that set." (Sūrat Al-'An`ām: 76)

Our master Ibrahim (عليه السلام) realized that a changing entity could not be a God arranging matters in the world as his people believed that stars, the sun and the moon arranged things in the world.

The importance of critical thinking

A Muslim requires critical thinking to meet different situations in life and to preserve himself from committing mistakes. The importance of critical thinking can be summarized in the following:

- training people on research, investigation and self-learning,
- distancing oneself from fanaticism and extremism,
- acquiring the ability of engaging in dialogue and communicating with the other,

I analyze and infer:

The significance of the following statement: "Every statement will either be accepted or rejected except for the speech of the inhabitant of this grave" - meaning the Messenger (ﷺ).

- What has been confirmed as coming from the Prophet (ﷺ) is authentic, recognized knowledge.

- Views are open to discussion without rigidity and fanaticism.

The objectives of critical thinking

Critical thinking has many objectives including:

- making correct decisions,
- solving problems and meeting new developments on the basis of science and knowledge,
- enabling individuals and society to avoid making mistakes and reducing their possibilities,
- achieving progress on fixed and sound foundations.

I mention

other objectives of critical thinking:

I investigate

to find in the Qur'an and Sunnah texts indicating the following:

Statement	Sharia texts
Searching for the correct and accurate information.
Warning from lying.
The rank of control and patience before giving a description.
Prohibition of making judgments without evidence.

I think and identify:

on the basis of the hadith and according to the following table:

- Abu Huraira (رضي الله عنه) narrated: A man came to the Prophet (ﷺ) and said, 'O Allah's Messenger my wife has given birth to a black child.' The Messenger (ﷺ) said, 'Do you own camels?' The man said, 'Yes.' The Messenger (ﷺ) said, 'What color are they?' The man said, 'Red'. The Messenger (ﷺ) said, 'Any gray ones among them?' The man said, 'Yes.' The Messenger (ﷺ) said, 'And how do you think this color came?' The man said, 'Some strain must have drawn it out.' The Messenger (ﷺ) said, 'May be the same happened here, some strain must have drawn him out" (Narrated by al-Bukhārī).

How the Prophet (ﷺ) directed the thinking of the man towards critical thinking?
What is the effect of critical thinking on the life of this man.

I apply

On the basis of what has been learned above, I complete the following table using the text (Try to understand the characteristics of a critical personality).

- Rabi'ah Ibn Kab (رضي الله عنه) used to serve the Prophet (ﷺ) and do everything the Prophet (ﷺ) needed. Rabi'ah said, "One day the Prophet (ﷺ) said to me after seeing my alacrity and devotion in serving him, "Ask of me anything and I will give it to you". I said, 'Give me some time, O Messenger of Allah, to think about what I should ask of and tell you'. I thought about myself and said that the world is temporary and will pass away and I have my share of sustenance in it which Allah has guaranteed and which must come to me. I said I ask Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) something for the Hereafter for he has a place with Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ). I came and he (ﷺ) said 'What do you say, O Rabi'ah? I said, 'Yes Allah's Messenger, I ask you to beseech God most High on my behalf to make me your companion in Paradise.' 'Who has advised you thus?' asked the Prophet (ﷺ). I said, 'No by Allah. No one has advised me. But when you told me 'Ask of me anything and I will give to you, I thought of asking you for something of the goodness of this world. But before long, I was guided to choose what is permanent and lasting against what is temporary and perishable. And so I have asked you to beseech Allah on my behalf that I may be your companion in Paradise.' The Prophet remained silent for a long while and then asked: 'Any other request besides that, Rabi'ah?' 'No, O Messenger of Allah, Nothing can match what I have asked you.' 'Then, in that case, assist me for your sake by performing much prostration to Allah'' (Narrated by Ahmed).

Avoiding haste in demanding directly evidences a thinking, restrained mentality.	Rabi'ah saying, 'Give me some time, O Messenger of Allah, to think about what I should ask of and tell you'.
Reflecting away from things that disturb thinking.	Rabi'ah saying
Scientific thinking based on scientific hypotheses and testing them.	I thought about myself and said that the world is temporary and will pass away and I have my share of sustenance in it which Allah has guaranteed and which must come to me. I said I ask Allah's Messenger (ﷺ), something for the Hereafter for he has a place with Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ).
Arranging priorities	I said I ask Allah's Messenger something for the Hereafter.
Ability to criticize something with an argument and evidence.

I find evidence

Of the care the Prophet (ﷺ) accorded to teaching the Companions reflection and planning – ‘critical thinking’.

I find a link between the significance of the following hadith and the skill of critical thinking:

- In a hadith reported by Sahl ibn Sa'd al-Sa'idi, he said, “A man passed by Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) and Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) asked (his companions) “What do you say about this (man)?” They replied, “If he asks for a lady's hand, he ought to be given her in marriage; and if he intercedes (for someone) his intercession should be accepted; and if he speaks, he should be listened to.” Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) kept silent, and then a man from among the poor Muslims passed by; an Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) asked (them) “What do you say about this man?” They replied, “If he asks for a lady's hand in marriage he does not deserve to be married, and if he intercedes (for someone), his intercession should not be accepted; And if he speaks, he should not be listened to.’ Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, “This poor man is better than so many of the first as filling the earth.’ (Sahih al-Bukhārī’).

I use my skills to learn

The position of Islam towards Social Networking:

Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) revealed His Books to the His Messengers (عليهم السلام) and commanded them to tell people of what had been revealed to them. He revealed the Holy Qur'an to His Messenger Muhammad (ﷺ) and made him a mercy to mankind. Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) commanded him, as He commanded the Messengers (عليهم السلام); He (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) says:

(سورة المائدة: 67)

Yā 'Ayyuhā Ar-Rasūlu Balligh Mā 'Unzila 'Ilayka MinRabbika Wa 'In Lam Taf`al Famā Ballaghta Risālatahu

“O Messenger: proclaim the (message) which has been sent to you from your Lord. If you did not, you would not have fulfilled and proclaimed His mission...” (Sūrat Al-Mā'idah: 67)

This is a call to communicate with people; it is not conceivable that he 'proclaims' the message without communicating with them.

Also, getting acquainted with others and communicating with them is a nature in man. Man cannot realize his interests and satisfy his needs while he lives in isolation. He is driven by an innate inclination and by his needs to communicate with his brothers in humanity. Islam is a religion predicated on innate disposition; it has made communication a duty on Muslims; Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿..وَقُولُوا لِلنَّاسِ حُسْنًا...﴾

(سورة البقرة: 83)

Wa Qūlu Lilnāsi Ḥusnān

“...speak fair to the people...” (Sūrat Al-Baqarah: 83)

Therefore, one must communicate with people as Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) says:

﴿وَالْعَصْرِ ۝١ إِنَّ الْإِنْسَانَ لَفِي خُسْرٍ ۝٢ إِلَّا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا وَعَمِلُوا الصَّالِحَاتِ

وَتَوَاصَوْا بِالْحَقِّ وَتَوَاصَوْا بِالصَّبْرِ ۝٣﴾

(سورة العصر)

1. Wa Al-`Aşri

2. 'Inna Al-'Insāna Lafti Kḥusrin

3. 'Illā Al-Ladhīna 'Āmanū Wa `Amilū Aş-Şālihāti Wa Tawāşaw Bil-Ĥaqqi Wa Tawāşaw Biş-Şabri

1. By (the Token of) Time (through the ages),

2. Verily Man is in loss,

3. Except such as have Faith, and do righteous deeds, and (join together) in the mutual teaching of Truth, and of Patience and Constancy (Sūrat Al-`Aşr).

'Mutual teaching of truth and of patience' is the pinnacle and foundation of Social Networking. The holy chapter points to the sublime end of Social Networking- escaping any loss and winning and succeeding in worldly life and the HereAfter.

Had Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) remained inside his house and isolated himself from people, this great blessing would not have reached them. The Messenger (ﷺ) used to go to people and meet them at Hajj bringing to them guidance and light. He was concerned with them and felt sad about the hardships they experience. Without communication between people no news spreads, no knowledge is acquired, and no earth is constructed.

I discuss

the following statement and link it to the concept of Social Networking:

"The absolute isolation of man is the shortest route to the extinction of mankind".

I decide and justify:

Social media website are sufficient to perform social duties.

The objectives of Social Networking in Islam:

Sūrat Al-`Aşr identified the goal of Social Networking and many verses in the Qur'an demonstrated that Social Networking is not intended to waste time on meaningless chattering. Allah (تعالى) says:

﴿وَالَّذِينَ هُمْ عَنِ اللَّغْوِ مُعْرِضُونَ﴾

(سورة المؤمنون: 3)

Wa Al-Ladhīna Hum `Ani Al-Laghwi Mu`ridūna

“Who avoid vain talk;” (Sūrat Al-Mu`uminūna: 3)

Allah (تَعَالَى) has warned against speaking of people's honor for sheer entertainment, disregard them and charging them with disbelief (كفر) kufur(. In this regard, Allah (عَزَّوَجَلَّ) says:

Wa La'in Sa'altahum Layaqūlunna 'Innamā Kunnā Nakhūdu Wa Nal`abu Qul 'Abi'Allahi Wa 'Āyātihi Wa Rasūlihi Kuntum Tastahzi'ūna

“If you do question them, they declare (with emphasis): "We were only talking idly and in play." Say: "Was it at Allah, and His Signs, and His Messenger that you were mocking?" (Sūrat At-Tawbah: 65)

Hence what are the objectives of Social Networking?

1. Realizing cooperation and harmony between people, deepening social ties and rejecting divisiveness and animosity.
2. Spreading good, preserving people's rights, combating crime and avoiding calamities and catastrophes.
3. Exchange of knowledge, sciences and expertise.
4. Exposing those who propagate falsities and destructive causes and saving youth from being allured by misguided people.
5. Giving advice to others by learned men who are honest in giving advice as well as illustrating what is right to them.

A Study

A study of the users of a social networking website whose ages vary from 18 to 82 years answered the following question: How long is the time they spend on the website? How often was there a problem with their partners because of this website?

The results of the study revealed that the use of this website was a significant indicator of the rise in divorce rate among spouses.

Etiquette of Social Networking:

When we speak of Social Networking, this includes all its means especially the modern ones. This is so because of the spread of modern means of communication especially social media websites, which are distinguished by rapid spread, posting and rapid development until they sidelined other means. However, the etiquette governing these modern means is the same as the etiquette governing conversation and discussion, which is rooted in the moral of Islam and its higher values irrespective of time and place. This etiquette comprises:

- a Muslim must adhere to honesty in what he writes as Allah (تعالى) says:

﴿ مَا يَلْفِظُ مِنْ قَوْلٍ إِلَّا لَدَيْهِ رَقِيبٌ عَتِيدٌ ﴾

(سورة ق: 18)

Mā Yalfiẓu Min Qawlin 'Illā Ladayhi Raqībun `Atīdun

“Not a word does he utter but there is a sentinel by him, ready (to note it).” (Sūrat Qāf: 18)

- a Muslim should double check what he says, writes or reposts because he is accountable for all this especially as regard Sharia rulings and the Prophet's hadiths. He should not post anything until he authenticates it. The Messenger (ﷺ) said,

“It is enough lying for a man to speak of everything that he hears” (Narrated by Muslim).

- posting what is good and beneficial to people as the Messenger (ﷺ) said of a good companion,

“The example of a good companion (who sits with you) in comparison with a bad one, is like that of the musk seller and the blacksmith’s bellows (or furnace); from the first you would either buy musk or enjoy its good smell while the bellows would either burn your clothes or your house, or you get a bad nasty smell thereof”
(Narrated by al-Bukhārī).

- observing scientific honesty when writing or reposting by referring everything to the correct source and to discontinue following those who ignore scientific honesty.
- showing what is correct and what is wrong, what is right and what is false on the basis of science if one possesses the necessary knowledge to do so; otherwise one has to refer matters to authorized specialists.
- one must reflect a bright image of his religion and its morals, his society and avoid false accusations and obscene talk as well as despising people and everything that might spoil this bright image.
- sincerity and obedience to Allah and His Messenger by avoiding breaching the command of Allah and His Messenger and the laws enacted by the guardian (ruler) because obeying the ruler is a part of obeying Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ).

Hazards of social media:

It is well-known that social media websites have been opened to people for free; it is not conceivable that this has been done out of love for people. We all know of the commercial goals of these websites and that material gains to them take priority over any other values. Some quarters may use these sites for suspicious purposes- social or political or other purposes. This has yielded many hazards including:

1. Spreading sedition among people and stirring enmity and hate among them. Some people promote racism and misleading ideas; others level the charge of disbelief against others for no reason and without being equipped with learnedness or knowledge.
2. Abusing religion and making it repulsive to people by posting the pronouncements of extremists and persons of private interests whether intentionally or unintentionally. By doing so the person behind these spoils the image of moderate Islam and portrays it as propagating killing, enslaving and looting.

3. One's betrayal of one's religion, homeland and society by inventing rumors or exchanging them via social media thus exposing the safety of society and security of the homeland to danger. This one will have betrayed preserving one's trust. Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿...إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يُحِبُّ الْخَائِنِينَ﴾

(سورة الأنفال: 58)

Inna Allāha Lā Yuḥibbu Al-Khā'inīna

"...for Allah loves not the treacherous." (Sūrat Al-'Anfāl: 58)

4. Lying and cheating prevail in the social media and, therefore, they are not trustworthy. Some people lie even about their names or nationality. Others use them to cheat people about their own emotions as when a man seduces a woman, or vice versa and about their wealth as in raising fake funds for a person in need or other misfortune.
5. Audacity to destroy principles and morals through pornographic websites, other websites which deliberately insult the beliefs, symbols and culture of society. Some ignorant people may be cheated and become fans of such websites. Allah (تَعَالَى) says:

﴿إِذْ تَبَرَّأَ الَّذِينَ اتَّبَعُوا مِنَ الَّذِينَ اتَّبَعُوا وَرَأَوْا الْعَذَابَ وَتَقَطَّعَتْ بِهِمُ

الْأَسْبَابُ ﴿١٣٦﴾

(سورة البقرة: 166)

'Idh Tabarra'a Al-Ladhīna Attubi`ū Mina Al-LadhīnaAttaba`ū Wa Ra'aw Al-`Adhāba Wa Taqaṭṭa`at Bihimu Al-'Asbābu

*“Then would those who are followed clear themselves of those who follow (them)
: They would see the penalty, and all relations between them would be cut off.”
(Sūrat Al-Baqarah: 166)*

6. Stealing the personal data of people and violating their privacy in order to defame, threat and blackmail them.
7. These websites represent a danger to children by posting pictures of killing, dead bodies, nakedness and photographs of criminals; this injurs the innocence and thinking of children.

I find a solution:

to the following cases:

Case	Expected objectives	Practical solution
Someone impersonates the personality of another person.
A webpage promoting unknown figures.
A website entices youth to betray their country.
A personal webpage propogating grudges.
A message requesting reposting a hadith whose authenticity is unknown.
A website specialized in slander, calumny and accusing others of disbelief.
A webpage promoting pornographic websfies.

I apply:

Allah (عزَّ وجلَّ) revealed His last Book to the Seal of His Prophets (ﷺ) and obligated His Prophet to convey the Book to people and explain it to them. The Prophet's Sunnah was an interpretation and elucidation of the meanings and rulings of the Holy Qur'an in addition to being the second source of Islamic Sharia. Allah (تعالى) says:

﴿وَأَنْزَلْنَا إِلَيْكَ الذِّكْرَ لِتُبَيِّنَ لِلنَّاسِ مَا نُزِّلَ إِلَيْهِمْ وَلَعَلَّهُمْ يَنْفَكِرُونَ﴾

Allah (تعالى) predisposed scholars to Sharia across different ages to work on preserving, spreading and defending Sharia and thus maintain it against loss and distortion. A house of knowledge and faith

Imam Muḥammad ibn Ismā'īl al-Bukhārī was born in 194 AH when the Abbasid Caliphate was at the zenith of its scientific and cultural activity. He lived in a splendid scientific age when various sciences flourished including Sharia sciences. His father was a revered scholar and one of the disciples of Imam Malik (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ). He was reputed for his knowledge and piety. It has been narrated that he said on his deathbed, "I don not know of a single unlawful or suspicious Dirham in my wealth".

Imam al-Bukhārī grew up under the care of his mother because his father died when he was still a child. She did well in rearing and taking care of him. Muḥammad ibn Ismā'īl lost his sight when he was a child. His mother resorted to praying to Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) to cure her son. One night she saw in her sleep our master Ibrahim (عليه السلام) who gave her the good tidings that Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ) had restored her son's sight. In the morning his sight was back.

Science is a weapon

Muhammad ibn Abi Hatim narrated that he heard al-Bukhārī say, “I have been inspired memorizing hadith when I was in al-Kuttab (الكتاب first stage of education)”. He asked, “How old were you at that time?” He said, “Ten years or less. Then I left al-Kuttab after I was ten and started to frequent the majlis of Imam Al- Dakhili and others. One day as Al- Dakhili was dictating a hadith to people he said, “Sufyan from Abi Al-Zubair from Ibrahim”. I said to him, “Aba Al-Zuabir did not narrate from Ibrahim.” He yelled at me. I said, “Refer to the original if you have it”. Al- Dakhili referred to his original source and came back and said, “How is it narrated, boy?” I said, “He is Al-Zubair, he is ibn ‘Odai from Ibrahim”. He took the pen and corrected his book and said, “You are right “. A man asked, “How old were you?” He said, “I was eleven”.

I explain:

the significance of the following in cooperation with my group:

- al-Bukhārī attending scientific circles when he was eleven years old:

- the words of al-Bukhārī to his Sheikh: “Refer to the original if you have it”:

- Imam Al- Dakhili correcting what he has written and saying to his pupil “You are right “:

I deduce from the above:

A learner’s etiquette	A scholar’s etiquette
.....

I study and infer:

Statement	Inference
Ibn Khuzaymah (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) said, “No one under the visible skies is more knowledgeable of the hadith of Allah’s Messenger than Muḥammad ibn Ismā’īl”.
Al-Hafiz Ibn Hajar (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) said of Imam al-Bukhārī, “If we start to write his praise, ink will run out and shortness of breath will set in; he is a shoreless sea”.
al-Bukhārī (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) said. “I recorded hadiths from one thousand and eighty persons and none of them is but a master of hadith”.
Imam Muslim (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) used to kiss Imam al-Bukhārī between his eyes.
Imam al-Bukhārī said, “I never spoke behind someone’s back since knowing that backbiting is forbidden”.

I explain:

The significance of the following statements and situations:

- His mother and brother accompanied him to Hajj; but his mother and brother returned home and al-Bukhārī remained in Makkah.

- Al-Darimi (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) said, "If Muḥammad ibn Ismā'īl reads the Qur'an, he uses his heart, sight and hearing, thinks of the examples it gives and grasps what it permits and what it prohibits".

- al-Bukhārī (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) used to ride and go to practice archery oftenly and his arrow never misses its target.

The stamina of a knowledge seeker

- One day, Ishaq Ibn Rahwayh (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ), who was al-Bukhārī's Sheikh, said to his students, "I wish you compiled a concise book on what is sahih of the Sunnah of Allah's Messenger (ﷺ)".
- al-Bukhārī (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) said, "This touched a responsive cord in me and I began to compile al-Jaami' al-Sahih". al-Bukhārī (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) saw the Prophet (ﷺ) in his sleep. al-Bukhārī was standing in front of the Prophet carrying a hand fan and waving it back-and-forth over him. He asked dream interpreters and they said, "You were driving away lying from him".
- Imam al-Bukhārī began realizing the vision of his Sheikh when he was twenty-three years old. He never wrote a hadith in his book until he performed wudu, made istikhara and became assured of its authenticity. He continued to compile his book twenty-six years until it was complete. The book is famously known as al-Jaami' al-Sahih al-Musnad al-Mukhtasar min Umuri Rasooli-Ilahi wa sunanihi wa Ayyaamihi (The Abridged Collection of Authentic Hadith with Connected Chains regarding Matters Pertaining to the Prophet, His practices and His Times). In his book he compiled 7275 hadith chosen from 600,000 hadiths that were in his hands.
- Imam al-Bukhārī used in classifying al-Jaami' al-Sahih on books and chapters. He began by the chapter on revelation- how did the revelation begin? This is followed by a chapter on the form in which revelation descended to the Prophet (ﷺ) and so on. He opened this chapter by the hadith on "...deeds are only with intentions..." He concluded his work by the book on tawheed (Oneness [of Allah]); he made the last hadith in the chapter of the words of Allah (تَعَالَى)

﴿وَنَضَعُ الْمَوَازِينَ الْقِسْطَ لِيَوْمِ الْقِيَامَةِ...﴾
(سورة الأنبياء: 47)

(Wa Nada `u Al-Mawāzīna Al-Qiṣṭa Liyawmi Al-Qiyāmati)

We shall set up scales of justice for the Day of Judgment...” (Sūrat Al-’Anbyā’: 47) and the saying of the Prophet (ﷺ):

“Two words are beloved to the Most Merciful. They are light on the tongue but heavy on the scale: Glory and praise to Allah (سُبْحَانَ اللَّهِ وَبِحَمْدِهِ), and glory to Allah the Almighty (سُبْحَانَ اللَّهِ الْعَظِيمِ)”.

- al-Bukhārī (رضي الله عنه) presented his book to hadith luminaries in his age such as Alī ibn al-Madīnī, Yahya ibn Mu’in and Ahmad ibn Hanbal (رحمهم الله) in addition to authenticating his narrations.
- al-Jaami’ al-Sahih was distinguished from other books by having two conditions to accept a hadith in the book: contemporaneity of the narrators and proving that the two had met.

I deduce:

the greatest number of the scientific facts that make us trust the authenticity of the narratives of Imam al-Bukhārī in his Sahih.

I expect:

The reasons that made Imam al-Bukhārī respond to the vision of his Sheikh Ishaq Ibn Rahwayh – (رحمهما الله):

I propose:

In cooperation with group an idea on using technology to take care of Sahih al-Bukhārī:

Scholars views of al-Jaami' al-Sahih

1. Imam Al-Dhahabi (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) says of Sahih al-Bukhārī : the most revered book of Islam and the best after the Book of Allah (عَزَّ وَجَلَّ).
2. It is said of the book: "There is no book under the visible skies which is more valid than al-Bukhārī and Muslim after the Qur'an.
3. Imam ad-Dehlawi mentioned the agreement among muhaddithin (traditionists/hadith collectors) on the authenticity of the hadiths associated with marfu (elevated) hadiths in Imam al-Bukhārī and Imam Muslim; whoever underestimated them is a muftadi (innovator) following a non-believers' path.
4. In view of the importance of the book, several scholars authored expository books and abridgements and other types of publications on al-Jaami' al-Sahih which totaling in tens of books. The most famous of these books is Fatḥ al-Bārī fī Sharḥ Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī by the Hafiz Ibn Ḥajar al-‘Asqalānī. Sheikh Muhammad bin Rashid (حفظه الله) printed the book on his private fund and distributed it for free. Other expository writings include Al-Qastallani’s Irshad al-Sari and many other works.

I explain:

the scholars’ praise of Imam al-Bukhārī’ (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) and his book and considering the most authentic book after the Qur’an.

I plan and innovate:

We plan to hold a debate on Imam al-Bukhārī’ (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ) and invite scholars from the General Authority of Islamic Affairs and Endowments to demonstrate the role of Imam al-Bukhārī’ in enriching hadith science in several books including al-Jāmi’ al-Sahīḥ under the supervision of the school administration.

Imam al-Bukhārī’ (رَحِمَهُ اللهُ)

Hybrid education in the Emirati school

Within the strategic dimension of the Ministry of Education's development plans and its endeavor to diversify education channels and overcome all the challenges that may prevent it, and to ensure continuity in all circumstances, the Ministry has implemented a hybrid education plan for all students at all levels of education.

Channels for obtaining a textbook:

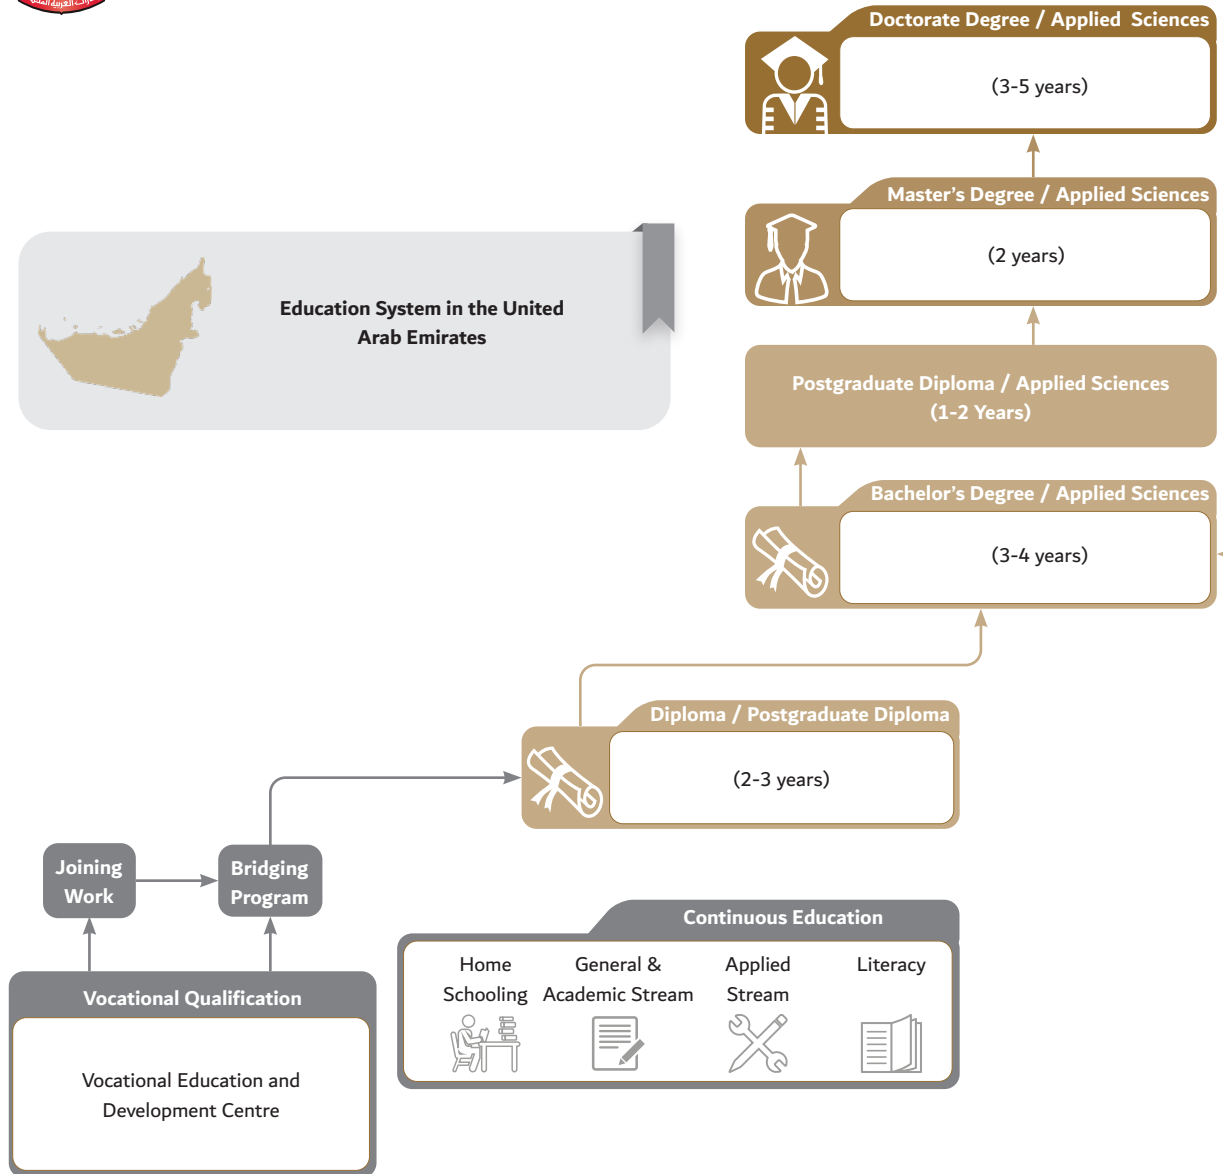

برنامج محمد بن راشد
للتعلم الذكي
Mohammed Bin Rashid
Smart Learning Program

Electronic units

UNITED ARAB EMIRATES
MINISTRY OF EDUCATION

The Ministry coordinates with national higher education institutions to admit students in various majors in line with the needs of the labour market and future human development plans. Higher Education institutions also determine the number of students that can be admitted according to their capabilities, mission and goals. They also set the conditions for students' admission to various programmes according to the stream they graduated from, the levels of their performance in the secondary stage, and their results from the Emirates Standard Assessment Test.

Integration and coordination between General and Higher Education systems allow for the approval and calculation of school study courses within university studies according to the school stream and university specialisation, which reduces the duration of university studies.
